DiMaggio's Clout Nips Whiz Kids, 2-1, in 10th

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5 (AP)—The one and only Joe DiMaggio lined a tenth-inning home run into the upper deck at Shibe Park to crush the luckless Philadelphia Phils again today, 2 to 1, and give the New York Yankees a probably insurmountable lead in the 1950 World Series. The Yanks now lead, two game to none.

The great outfielder's telling blow, his seventh World Series homer, came with none out in the first extra inning of a tense mound battle between Robin Roberts of the Phils and Allie Reynolds of the Yanks. With the count two balls and one strike against, DiMaggio found one he liked and drove it into the spectators something under 400 feet from the plate.

It was the veteran stars' first hit of the Series, and it could not have come at a more auspicious time. His bat did not figure in the Yanks' dramatic 1-0 victory over Jim Konstanty in yesterday's opener.

Today's defeat was the sixth straight by a one-run margin for the Phils in World Series competition. They lost the last four of the 1915 Fall classic to the Boston Red Sox by that margin and now have dropped the first two of this Series.

AS A RESULT of Joe's timely wallop, which crushed the home crowd of 32,660 as surely as it all but killed the championship hopes of the Phils, the Bombers will go into the third game in their own stadium tomorrow holding a tremendous advantage over the youthful National leaguers.

The next three games are scheduled in the Bronx. With the Yanks' ace lefthander, Eddie Lopat, ready to go tomorrow, and Whitey Ford, their rookie sensation, a possibility for the fourth contest, it seemed not unlikely tonight that the defending champions might sweep the Series.

Roberts, the 24-year-old righthander who won 20 games during the past season, gave Casey Stengel's poised outfit a real tussle today, just as Konstanty did yesterday. But again it wasn't enough.

The Whiz Kids could not solve Reynolds' fast ball and crackling curves with men on base, any more than they solved Vic Raschi in the opener, and in the end it took only one solid shot to sink them.

COVENTRYVILLE MAN IS TAKEN ILL WITH POLIO

Charles T. Maxwell, 45, In Chester Co. Hospital; Diagnosed as Mild Case

Charles T. Maxwell, 45, of Coventryville, became the Pottstown area's second victim of polio yesterday.

He was admitted to Chester county hospital, West Chester, with what was diagnosed as a light case of bulbar polio, the potentially most dangerous type of the ailment.

The first victim was Margaret "Peggy" Stanton, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph G. Stanton, 212 South Franklin street. Admitted to Montgomery hospital, Norristown, the past Sunday, with bulbar polio paralyzing much of her body, the girl was reported "improving slightly" last night.

Maxwell's physician credited the fact that the case was caught early with saving the man from the worst effects of the disease, especially paralysis.

Dr. Robert H. Linn, Pottstown physician who treated Maxwell, said that cases of polio at this time of year are somewhat unusual. "It is a little late for polio," he said. "It usually dies down about now."

The Pottstown area was free from the disease during the Summer when polio generally is at its height.

IN THE CONTAGION ward of Chester county hospital, Maxwell was reported receiving the Sister Kenny hot pack treatment to halt the development of infantile paralysis past its present stage.

Maxwell, sales manager of the Wilton corporation, a subsidiary of the E. V. Hunter corporation, Stowe, first complained of illness Monday.

He told his family then that he felt as though he were coming down with grippe. Maxwell then ached generally over his body, had a sore throat and was running a temperature of 100 degrees.

WEDNESDAY he noticed that his neck was becoming stiff, he was suffering a headache and felt weak. Dr. Linn was called and sent Maxwell to Memorial hospital.

There, a spinal tap and other tests were taken, showing what Dr. Linn had suspected, that polio was the ailment. Since Maxwell lives in Chester county, he was sent to the county hospital for care by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

He was driven there shortly before noon yesterday in a Good Will ambulance by William Christman.

Hospital officials reported last night, "His general condition is quite satisfactory and he is resting comfortably."

MRS. MAXWELL said she could not yet speak to her husband, since he had to stay in the hospital's contagion ward for seven days.

She was told, however, that Maxwell's was a very light case. "We feel quite encouraged," Mrs. Maxwell declared. She credited the prompt preventive treatment to the diagnosis of Dr. Linn.

Maxwell has been sales manager of the Wilton corporation, the trade name for Hunter's sportswear line, for the past 18 years.

His family has lived in Coventryville only since August, 1949, having moved there from Ardmore.

'Ford Principal Quits in Dispute With Directors

The Royersford school board last night accepted the resignation of John S. Hartman, supervising principal since 1939 except for a three-year wartime leave of absence.

The resignation was offered after one board member charged Hartman with "administrative bungling" at a board meeting Sept. 7.

The resignation was effective as of the close of school today. The board accepted it on a motion with no immediate comment.

In a statement, read by the secretary, Mrs. Marr L. Latshaw, the supervising principal, said:

"Due to a situation created by difference in policy, I find it expedient in the best interests of harmony in the Royersford school district to tender my resignation . . ."

THE "BUNGLING" charge was levied by Donald Maier, a director. He claimed that Limerick township residents had been told that Royers-

ECKENRODE GETS GUILTY VERDICT

By Staff Correspondent

NORRISTOWN, Oct. 5—A jury of eight women and four men late this afternoon returned a verdict of guilty against Edward Eckenrode, 23, of 18 West Third street, Pottstown, on trial before Judge Harold G. Knight on a charge of assault and battery.

Defense Attorney W. H. Rosenberry Jr. immediately filed an oral motion for a new trial and Eckenrode was given his freedom under $7500 bail.

The jury, which received the case at 3 p. m., required an hour and 15 minutes to reach its verdict. The court earlier had directed a verdict of not guilty on a charge of aggravated assault and battery.

After hearing a parade of Commonwealth and defense witnesses, the jury retired.

Eckenrode originally was charged with murder in the death of Frank "Arizona" Tyce on Aug. 30. The grand jury, however, refused to indict the prisoner on that count, but bound him over to court on the lesser charge.

ECKENRODE'S defense charged that the police had made a mistake in arresting him since he was in South Pottstown at the time the alleged assault took place.

He claimed that he was seated in

R. P. Holloway Dies; School Board Sec'y

The 62-year-old secretary of the Pottstown school board had been seriously ill at the hospital since he was admitted Saturday afternoon following a sudden stroke while he was watching a televised football game at his home, 556 King street.

From Saturday until Sunday night, he had periods of consciousness, but Sunday night he lapsed into unconsciousness from which he never emerged.

Mr. Holloway is survived by his wife Esther M. (Ruble) Holloway, at the King street address, and a niece, Miss Eleanor Holloway, 23 North Adams street.

Services will be held Monday afternoon from a funeral home at 359 King street at 2 o'clock, with the Rev. George A. Lineker, pastor of Christ Episcopal church, officiating. Interment will be in Edgewood cemetery.

ACTIVE IN political life of the borough since 1918, Mr. Holloway was born in Douglassville and lived there until 1904, when he came to Pottstown at the age of 16. He was graduated from Pottstown Business school in 1907.

In the years following, until 1922, he worked for the Reading company as a clerk in both the passenger and freight divisions.

Mr. Holloway was a staunch Republican all his life and followed the personal and political activities of most of the major party candidates and figure heads in national and State politics. And although he hewed sharply to the Republican party philosophy, he had many friends among Democrats in the borough.

HIS FIRST venture into local politics was in 1918 when he was elected borough auditor, an office he held until 1922 when he was appointed postmaster here.

Mr. Holloway remained as postmaster until the advent of Democratic rule in Washington, and in 1935 he was succeeded by a Democrat to the appointment.

In the same year he was elected to the Pottstown school board and served until his defeat for re-election to a third six-year term in 1947. However, as secretary of the school board, his contract did not expire until 1949, at which time he was re-elected to the position as a non-member of the board.

Lame since he was seven years old, Mr. Holloway had no special hobby. He was fond of flowers, and during his tenure as postmaster took an interest especially in chrysanthemums. In later years he puttered with his rose bushes in the yard of his home.

SHORTLY AFTER his parents, the late Elmer and Eleanor (Swavely) Holloway moved to Pottstown, Mr. Holloway and a brother, the late Harry Holloway, joined the choir at Christ Episcopal church. Both were fond of music and enjoyed singing.

But, as a boy, Mr. Holloway was asked to give up his seat in the choir—his voice changed. He was devoted to the church, however, and although he was denied the pleasure of singing, he became the choir crucifer.

From 1917 until his marriage in April 1938, he lived with his brother at 23 North Adams street. It was during this period that he developed an interest in household affairs.

He learned to cook, and took keen pleasure in preparing duck and seafoods. Baking also caught his fancy, and the cakes that came from his oven were eaten to his own testimony that "they're better than any woman can make."

MR. HOLLOWAY was a shrewd buyer. One of his favorite chores for his home was the regular Friday night and Saturday morning shop-

50-Year Wait Ends In Nuptials for Oldsters

HANNIBAL, Mo., Oct. 5 (AP)—District Judge O. C. Wybrant, 80, of Woodward, Okla., has come back home to marry his sweetheart of half a century ago, Mrs. Mary Georgia Monroe.

The judge said today he and Mrs. Monroe were engaged for two years 50 years ago "but adverse circumstances prevented our marriage."

"The romance was reborn last August," he added.

Both have been married and raised families since he went to Oklahoma in 1902. Mrs. Monroe's husband died in 1940. Mrs. Wybrant died last year.

District Executive Of Scouts Chosen

Richard Dutcher, of Millersville, Lancaster county, will succeed Robert U. Borneman of Sanatoga, as district Scout executive on Oct. 16, it was announced yesterday by W. B. Hubbell, Scout executive of the Valley Forge council.

The Valley Forge council includes Montgomery and Delaware counties. It is divided into 10 districts, of which one, the Continental district, takes in the Pottstown area.

Borneman was appointed to the new post of director of camping for the Valley Forge council on Sept. 5, a full-time job in itself, but he has been continuing his duties as district executive until Dutcher completes his work at the national training school for Scout executives at the Schiff Scout reservation, Mendham, N. J. He will be graduated Thursday, Oct. 12.

Dutcher was graduated from the Manor-Millersville High school in 1946. He entered the Millersville State Teachers college and was graduated the past May with a degree of bachelor of science in education.

During his college years he was advisor to the local chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, the national Scout service fraternity.

HE HAS BEEN a Boy Scout for 10 years and an assistant scoutmaster of Troop 45, Millersville, since 1946. Dutcher became neighborhood commissioner in 1948, after reaching Eagle Scout rank the year before.

The past two Summers he has been director of the Lancaster county Scout camp and has received the Scouter's award. He attended a national camping school at the Schiff reservation in 1949.

In Millersville, the new district executive is a member of the Zion Evangelical and Reformed church and an assistant Sunday school superintendent. He also has been treasurer for one year.

Dutcher hopes to bring his family to Pottstown as soon as he can find a place to live.

Borneman was appointed Valley Forge council camping director after serving seven years as district executive.

He will be responsible for the maintenance and program at Camp Delmont and will supervise camping activities throughout the council.

Frost Nips Gardens In Rural Sections

Tender tips of garden vegetables and flowers were nipped as frost hedge-hopped across the area yesterday morning.

And with the breeze dying to complete calm last night, rural residents expected the ice dusting to be considerably heavier this morning.

Scattered area residents reported yesterday morning's temperature the lowest of the season by one or two degrees.

At Pruss Hill dam, Elsie Liss said the mercury dropped to 28—probably for only a minute or two, since only a few tender shoots were blackened by frost.

Another season low was the 34 degrees at Upper Perkiomen park. A park spokesman said much of the Perkiomen valley got a light frost coating.

The forecast of sunny with high temperature in the low 60s did not seem to reduce the frost threat. Tomorrow, though, will be cloudy and warmer, the weatherman said.

Planes Hit Red Convoys As Enemy Gives Hint Of Grouping for Stand

TOKYO, Friday, Oct. 6 (AP)—United Nations troops massed today along the North Korean border while planes attacked Korean Reds giving every sign of determination to continue the war.

The planes tore at convoys totalling more than 130 vehicles.

A dispatch from U. S. Eighth Army headquarters said U. S. Marines and infantrymen, British, Australian and South Korean troops have been building up along the 38th parallel for the past week.

Thursday British and Australian troops were flown by planes to new, advanced positions near the 38th.

U. N. forces available for an all-out push are estimated to total 175,000 or more.

In night-long attacks Thursday, planes of the U. S. Fifth Air Force smashed two large-scale North Korean efforts to move ammunition and equipment to Communist units setting up a defense line north of 38th. That parallel is the artificial boundary which has divided South and North Korea since the end of World War II.

Information from returning pilots substantiated reports that the Reds are ignoring General MacArthur's surrender demands and intend to attempt an organized stand in

THRILLED . . . DISAPPOINTED

'Greatest Series,' Veteran Fan Says

"It's the greatest World Series in modern times," Lester R. Daub, 114 South Hanover street, declared excitedly last night.

"That's not just my opinion either. Everyone was saying it, between innings and after the game."

Daub, the Series fever still burning brightly inside him, pounded out the words on his return to Pottstown. From a box right behind third base, he had just seen the New York Yankees beat the Phillies 2-1 in the ten-inning second game of the October classic.

"It was a home run from the crack of the bat," he said without malice. "Ashburn and Sisler were both chasing it and nearly ran together, but it was a good 25 feet over their heads.

"It looked to me like he hit an outside pitch."

IN SPITE OF DiMaggio's homer, Roberts came back to pitch magnificent ball, Daub said loyally.

But the winning run was not the only high spot of the game for Daub. Waitkus, Ashburn and Hamner all got two hits apiece to bring him to his feet roaring with the crowd.

Then, two Yankee double-plays in the eighth and ninth, the first of the Series, provided thrill after thrill.

Although the Phillies played excellent ball, he went on to say, the pepper-pot action which characterized some of their mid-season play was in evidence only once.

That one time came when Ralph Caballero, running for Andy Seminick in the seventh frame, almost knocked Phil Rizzuto over sliding into second on Roberts' sacrifice

Connections Finished On High Street Fire Alarm, Police Boxes

Connection of all East High street fire alarm and police call boxes to an overhead wire was completed yesterday, William H. Price, borough electrician, said last night.

All eight fire boxes between Rosedale and Hanover street, out of commission since early in August, have been returned to service.

The boxes are situated at Charlotte, Franklin, Washington, Bailey, Madison, Green and Keim streets and Rosedale drive.

Police call boxes, which have been in on-again-off-again shape for months also were connected to the new wire. These boxes are situated at Washington and Keim streets and Mt. Vernon avenue.

The new connections were made necessary, Price explained, because the underground High street cable formerly carrying the wires had allowed water seepage and subsequent disruption of service. Because of cost and materials scarcity the cable cannot be repaired now, the borough electrician said.

204 Are X-rayed By Unit at YMCA

Mobile X-ray equipment photographed the chests of 204 persons in the YMCA yesterday, between 1 and 8 p. m., in a mass tuberculosis check.

For $1, each person was X-rayed and will receive a written report of the findings.

Miss Martha B. Shoemaker, executive secretary of the Family Welfare society, reported that 10 percent of the persons X-rayed were children, the youngest only 2 years old.

The examinations were sponsored by the Pottstown Christmas Seal sale committee of the Montgomery County Tuberculosis association, and the Pottstown Visiting Nurse organization and Family Welfare society.

Also this week, 496 Junior High school students and teachers were X-rayed Monday and 124 Hill school employes, masters and masters' wives Wednesday.

Hoffman Employes, Company in Accord On NLRB Election

Workers and management of the Hoffman Tool and Die company, 236 North Charlotte street, agreed yesterday to a National Labor Relations board election on Thursday, Oct. 19.

The election date was set during a three-quarter hour hearing in the Philadelphia NLRB office.

Harry R. Hoffman, company head, said during the conference that he planned definitely to go out of business but that he had no objection to his employes voting on the company premises.

Hoffman would not comment on the meeting last night. "I have nothing to say," he said.

THE SEVEN employes complained that they were locked out of the plant the past Friday morning when they told their employer they wanted to affiliate with Doehler-Jarvis Local 1056, United Auto Workers (CIO).

They asked for wages comparable to those paid tool and die makers at Doehler's, and refused to accept the 10 percent increase Hoffman offered them.

In addition to the NLRB representatives, yesterday afternoon's meeting was attended by Hoffman; Emmanuel Mann, UAW international representative, and four of Hoffman's employes, Harold J. Pickar, Carroll J. Krawchuk, Norman Rogers and Francis D. Hoffman.

25,000 Women and Children Feared Atrocity Victims of Fleeing Red Army

TOKYO, Friday, Oct. 6 (AP)—Responsible American sources estimated today that 25,000 men, women and children have been massacred in South Korea by retreating North Korean Reds.

These sources, who are investigating the crimes, said this was only a guess.

"The reason is," one source explained, "that we are finding graves, big and small, in practically every village and town. There are a great many not yet investigated."

Partial figures, compiled from official American and South Korean sources, ranged from a minimum of 20,000 to a maximum of more than 22,000.

There are at least 20 cases yet to be checked, investigators said.

Some of the victims were American soldiers taken prisoner by the Communist army. The total of these is not known.

In stunned silence, the United Nations Commission on Korea heard first-hand reports from its own field observers on atrocity slayings by the Reds.

Three Police Sergeants Not Expected To Attend Schedule Hearings Tonight

Although members of council's police committee have suggested that the three street sergeants attend tonight's meeting to try to straighten out the schedule problem, they almost certainly will not be on hand when the group meets in borough hall at 7:30 o'clock.

Chairman Earl R. Strange has emphasized that the burgess, who also is head of the police department, is the only one who may properly invite the sergeants to attend.

Burgess William A. Griffith, while commenting that "anyone is welcome to attend," also said recently that if he were a policeman, he would not care to be there.

At tonight's meeting, Strange and Gerald J. Daly will try to talk the burgess into substituting a schedule that puts all policemen on three, eight-hour, rotating shifts, for the system in effect since Sept. 1.

The current schedule has most of the officers working ten weeks at night for two weeks during the day, has put a few men on day shift permanently and has left much of the borough without foot patrolmen protection for several hours on both sides of midnight.

Flynn used a proxy for the presentation as the Don Juan was in bed nursing a very unromantic sniffle. Patrice liked it just the same.

Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois was forced to bow out when invited to enter Indiana Gov. Henry Schricker's "gubernatorial milking championship" contest.

"I declined, discreetly fearing to risk the pride and glory of Illinois, Stevenson said. "One of my friends remarked I didn't have a chance. It was 'udderly' hopeless."

The inviting lips of Greer Garson hold a tremendous attraction for world masculinity —that fact is somewhat of a truism. But those of the animal world also have designs on titian-headed Greer.

Greer Garson

Strolling through the cattle barns at the New Mexico State fair in Albuquerque, Greer was asked to pose beside a four-day-old calf. Graciously, she did so and gaily pecked the calf on the snoot. Whereupon the ecstatic heifer kissed right back—damply, and enthusiastically. Promptly the calf was named "Dela Swiss Greer Garson."

Perhaps the ivory tickling Mr. Truman is serious about a musical career if the GOP ever gets control of the White House again. No less an authority than Duke Ellington paid a call to give the President some sharps and flats data. The two poured over the finer points from Be Bop to classical.

The Duke, whose father once worked in the White House, said he found the President "very much aware of music, particularly the classics."

110-Group Air Force Is Reported Under Study by Marshall

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Marshall was reported today to be studying a recommendation from the joint chiefs of staff that the Air Force be beefed up to between 95 and 110 groups in a long-range program.

As of the time just before fighting broke out in Korea the Air Force had about 48 first-line groups. The President in July signed legislation authorizing—but not appropriating for—a 70-group force. The current publicly-announced goal, set while the fighting raged in the Orient, is 69 groups by December of 1953, and 58 by next June.

An official who cannot be named said the plan for 95 to 110 groups had been approved by the uniformed heads of the Army, Navy and Air Force and by former Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson, and forwarded to the White House.

It is understood that the proposal now has been returned to the Pentagon for appraisal by the new secretary, General Marshall.

AIRCRAFT ADDITIONS and personnel increases to man the proposed 95-110 group force were not disclosed. Neither was the timetable. A group is a variable-size unit which might range from 75 fighters to a very few bigger ships.

Such a boost for the aerial arm would represent the fullest measure of victory for forces in the House of Representatives, and in the Air Force itself, who had to fight for years before they put through the 70-group authorization.

The Senate had held out until the past Summer for a more general goal based on 24,000 serviceable aircraft or 225,000 airframe tons.

As late as the past Fall President Truman was backing Senate forces which wanted an appropriation sufficient only for a 48-group Air Force.

Cleanup of Schuylkill Nearing Completion, Draemel Says at Berks Dam Dedication

READING, Oct. 5 (AP)—The $55,000,000 cleanup of the Schuylkill river—a key phase in the State's billion dollar clean streams program—is near completion.

M. F. Draemel, State forests and waters secretary, made this disclosure today in an address dedicating the new Kernsville desilting dam on the Schuylkill river near here.

"The waters of the Schuylkill river are now flowing clear and without the load of culm and silt that once labeled the river as 'Pennsylvania's foulest river,'" Draemel said.

Draemel, together with other top State officials, took part in dedicating the new $2,199,730 dam after making an inspection tour of the housecleaning campaign on the river.

DRAEMEL DISCLOSED that the desilting of the river is now entering its third and final phase.

"The reclamation of the Schuylkill is well ahead of schedule and will be completed with a considerable saving to the Commonwealth," Draemel said.

"Our project engineers report a steady decrease from the peak load being carried by the river in November, 1947," he added.

The third phase, he said, is that of maintaining the units being employed in the $55,000,000 river reclamation project.

IN ANOTHER dedication address at the Kernsville dam, Justice Grover C. Ladner, of the State Supreme court, said Pennsylvania in pursuing its clean streams program has "made a reality out of a dream."

"We can be justly proud of our demonstration to the nation and the world," he said, "that no river, no matter how filthy and neglected need ever be abandoned as hopeless of redemption."

The Schuylkill river, which furnishes drinking water for almost one-third of the State's 10,500,000 residents, is the eastern focal point of the state's vast clean streams program across the state.

The silt removal from the river is being concentrated on a 75-mile stretch between Tamaqua and Norristown. The portion below Norristown is under Federal plans.

The steel beam was replaced during repair work on the Missouri river bridge here this week. When put in, it weighed 88.9 pounds. When taken out, corrosion had shrunken it to 26 pounds.

Two Members Accepted By Pottstown Rotarians

Two new members were added to the Rotary club last night at a routine meeting.

They were Gordon R. Exley 2d, president of Constructioneers incorporated, building firm, and Herbert R. Maack Jr., secretary-treasurer of the Pottstown Plating works.

Alfred H. "Buck" Bewley, local sporting goods store proprietor, showed a movie on skiing to the 65 members in the Elks' home. Movies on auto, boat and air racing also were shown.

Herbert Kenney provided music on a portable organ and Frank Kurtz played the piano. Charles Rohland was in charge of the meeting.

Hospital and medical-surgical expenses PAID for all your family!

BLUE CROSS and BLUE SHIELD

AGAIN OPEN TO INDIVIDUAL FAMILIES!

If you are under 66, in good health, and not eligible for group membership, you may join either or both plans as a non-group member.

Offer extends until October 30 only.

Nearly 1,600,000 people in the Philadelphia area are members of the nonprofit, community-sponsored Blue Cross plan. More than 250,000 belong to nonprofit Blue Shield.

Most of them joined through groups, formed where they work. Others joined as individuals (non-group membership).

These people don't worry about hospital and medical-surgical expenses. When they leave the hospital, they get a receipt—not a bill!

Nonprofit Blue Cross provides hospital services—not cash benefits which may add up to only a small portion of your bill. There's no red tape—when you leave the hospital, you simply present your Blue Cross card. Blue Cross takes care of room, meals, nursing, use of operating room, penicillin, sulfa—practically everything. Maternity benefits may be included. Once a Blue Cross member, you can stay a member for as long as you wish. And Blue Cross benefits are nation-wide. Blue Cross has paid bills of as high as $4,300 for an individual subscriber.

Nonprofit Blue Shield takes care of all or a major part of your surgical or medical-surgical expenses. Co-operating doctors have agreed to make no direct charge to you whatsoever for services covered by Blue Shield if you have a moderate income (up to $4,000 for those with two or more dependents).

You get everything for a few cents a day

Blue Cross and Blue Shield together provide today's finest, most complete medical care "package." Yet, no matter how many there are in your family, they can all have complete Blue Cross and Blue Shield protection for less per day than the price of a quart of milk or a package of cigarettes! Blue Cross family membership, by itself, costs only about 9¢ a day. Single people pay much less. You "pay as you go." It's mighty little for the kind of protection and peace of mind these famous nonprofit plans give you!

You're eligible for group membership if . . .

You work where five or more people are now employed. In this case, you join through a group at your company. If there is now no group where you work, Blue Cross will attempt to form one if you request that it be done. Group rates are somewhat lower than non-group and group membership provides additional benefits. One membership covers your whole family. New groups may be formed at any time. Send the coupon now!

You're eligible for non-group membership if . . .

You are under 66, in good health . . . and if you work where less than five people are employed or if you are self employed, retired, or not working. In this event, you join directly, through the mails. Your membership covers your whole family. Non-group applications will be accepted for a limited time only. The plans have no door-to-door salesmen. Send the coupon!

Telephone or write for full details today!

Hospital costs have almost doubled since 1943. An accident or serious illness is a jolt few budgets can stand. So don't wait another day to get all the details about Blue Cross and Blue Shield for yourself and your family. Whether you are eligible for group or non-group membership, your first step is to telephone or send the coupon for full details. You send no money, and you are not obligated in any way. Joining Blue Cross and Blue Shield is entirely up to you.

Ralph P. Holloway

. . . . . His faults we write upon the sand; his virtues upon the tablets of love and memory. . . . . .

FULL MANY a time the stentorian voice of Ralph P. Holloway filled the marbles halls of Elkdom with those sentimental words.

Today that great, booming voice is stilled by Death. There is no answer as the lodge of sorrow calls the roll.

Ralph P. Holloway, former Pottstown postmaster, secretary of the Pottstown school district, an ardent American and a genial clubman, passed away yesterday after suffering a heart attack five days previously.

His death is mourned by a wide acquaintanceship of friends, business associates and fraternal brothers. He was universally admired because he was a man among men, a genial personality, a companion of great wit.

Although an ardent Republican, Mr. Holloway claimed many friends among members of the other majority political party because he fought hard, but fought cleanly.

To him, Americanism came before party. Crippled, he was unable to serve his country by wearing its uniform, but the Stars and Stripes were always topmost in his heart. Some of his patriotic holiday orations were masterpieces.

Shocked was all of Pottstown when it learned of his sudden passing yesterday.

"He was a most efficient secretary," mourned Carroll L. Rutter, solicitor for the Pottstown school district and former Democratic borough chairman.

"He loved life," mourned George M. Longaker, Pottstown banker, personal and business friend. "But he got a lot out of life, too. He was a great man among men."

Mr. Holloway will be missed by many of the school district's teachers he befriended.

He will be missed by the many youths he counseled, by his vast circle of friends in Elkdom, where he rose to the local lodge's highest office, by his many brothers in other fraternities.

If Genghis Khan . . .

NEXT MONTH the last 700 survivors of the tribe of Genghis Khan, he of the unconquerable Golden Horde, will move into a final, grateful haven in Paraguay.

Twice in the 13th century the oriental armies of Genghis Khan threatened to overrun Europe. His successes in Asia whetted the appetites of later imperialists who ignored the warning of his failures in Europe. Now the descendants of the 13th century dictator whose land armies caused trembling throughout the civilized world make their final exit almost unnoticed from the world stage.

Would that the current tyrant of oriental origin who dreams today of conquering Europe might note and ponder well how utterly his ancient predecessor failed. If Genghis Khan, then surely Stalin will, too.

To Ease the Pain

THE BRITISH have come up with an idea that we ought to think about—illustrated income-tax forms. The purpose of the British illustrations is to ease the pain.

The forms will carry pictures of merry ale drinkers and dart players, also pictures of homes and schools to remind the taxpayers of government housing.

Our Harry costumed as Santa Claus bestowing ECA bounty on a swank Italian night club, or portraits of French and British politicians might do for notes of cheer on our tax forms. There are a world of themes for clever draftsmen.

WHOLESALE PRICES today are at an index of 168.9 as against the 175-year high of 169.8 reached in August of 1948 (which passed the previous all-time high of 165 in May 1920). Further, the cost of living index is only two points below its peak of two years ago.

Will the new taxes imposed this week and, the increases which are supposed to be levied when congress reconvenes, stop inflation? We just don't know, but we'll report the statistics as they come out in the race between inflation and our making up our minds on what to do about it.

Dear Sir 'n' Brother:

Wal, I see where the Phillies lost another heartbreaker to the Yankees in the world's series today. All we hear is Yanks win at home, and Yanks win in Korea, which is good news, says this corner.

Dewey is making speeches against "Washington mismanagement" in campaign for re-election to the New York governorship. He's not taking any chance on losing this one to Truman!

And say: Cordell Hull tells us to "get on fire with the spirit of liberty". With prices the way they are, we sure need something free.

Gals Have It Easy Today

To the Editor: I have read with interest from time to time the articles that appear on your Woman's Page concerning the couples that have been married 50 years.

That's a goodly number of years to be sharing things together and those couples are to be commended for their perseverance as well as their ability to live out the half century.

This brings me to the point of saying that, judging from the number of marriage licenses that have appeared lately, it is much easier for a gal to hook a poor fish today than 50 years ago. But when they were hooked back at the turn of the century, they seldom got away.

The hooking is easily done today, what with the aid of the cosmetics and clothing industries. Of course, in these days of the six-ounce feminine costumes, the wary bachelor can see what he's getting.

How grandma, wearing voluminous skirts and sunbonnet, managed to get grandpa, disguised in whiskers, I don't know. But the match usually lasted longer than it does today.

This is why we must give credit to those who go through 50 years together. They wrote a bright chapter in domestic relations that probably will not be repeated as long as we're on this planet.

Drafting College Men, Too

To the Editor: In answer to the letter from a GI's Mother ("A Mother to College Men, Readers Say, Oct. 2), I would like to inform her that the draft is calling boys from college every day, as it is calling men from all walks of life.

The draft is no respecter of occupations.

College fellas are proud to leave their education and fight for their country, and you may be sure that they are not hiding behind their books.

I don't know where you got the mistaken idea that the draft is exempting college students, but you are emphatically wrong. Just examine the roll of any college and you will see that many students have already answered the call of their country.

Sports Fans Go Too Far

To the Editor: For the life of me I'll never know why you devote space on your front page to the lunacy of three full-grown men waiting all night at the Philadelphia ball park for tickets to the World Series.

How fanatical can a sports fan get?

If grown-ups caught their children doing anything half as foolish, they would give them a tanning and send them to bed. Yet in the adult years, these antics seem to be particularly amusing and worthwhile. I can't see it.

An Apple Tree in Norco

To the Editor: We have all read about a tree that "grew in Brooklyn." I want to tell about an apple tree in North Coventry.

It has the most beautiful apples for cooking I have ever seen, with a wonderful flavor. I can't find such apples in the stores, and I wish our growers would put them on the market.

We spend a lot of energy picking cherry queens and others. I'd like to nominate this tree for apple queen.

WASHINGTON

Truman Has Hard Time Getting Controls 'Boss'

By ROGER WARREN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5—Partial reason for President Truman's delay in applying the price, wage and material controls which Congress gave him is his failure so far to persuade anybody to accept this unpopular task. He has offered the post to three men, but they have turned it down with a polite but firm "No, thank you."

The fact is that the President is having difficulty in talking the big men of business and industry into accepting top war jobs. He does not seem to possess the salesmanship of Franklin D. Roosevelt, who despite his campaign attacks on "economic royalists," was unusually lucky or fortunate in drafting them for the World War II emergency.

THANKLESS: Working for the government, and especially in the field of bread-and-butter controls, in the opinion of the industrialists Mr. Truman has approached with requests and offers, is a thankless job.

It gets them in the bad graces of their associates, who do not like Mr. Truman's "fair deal." They note that not a man who served at Washington during the last war emerged with an enhanced reputation.

Thus, with a few exceptions such as Messrs. Harrison and Gifford, Mr. Truman will be forced to rely on incumbent members of his official family—Secretaries Snyder, Chapman, Sawyer and Brannan—or on "political reliables," who will serve out of loyalty to the head of the party.

"Big men" just will not work for the government even in this time of crisis. In fact, Mr. Truman has told friends, only semi-humorously, that the draft act may have to be extended to include corporate executives.

"CONTAMINATED": Sen. Styles Bridges's recent charge that the Farmers' Union had both a Communist birth and background did not receive the attention it deserves, in view of subsequent political repercussions.

The New Hampshire legislator says that no speech in his Senate career provoked so much editorial comment in agricultural areas, or so much mail from farmers.

His address was not a haphazard effort. It was well prepared and documented, and it has convinced many farm people that this organization, which wrote the Brannan Plan, is slightly leftist, to put it mildly.

Mr. Bridges did not charge that James G. Patton, president of the Union, or other national officers were fellow-travelers. But he did maintain, and many agricultural experts agree with him, that various state units are so "contaminated" and controlled, and that they really run the Union.

SIGNIFICANT: The political background of the Bridges indictment is significant, for this farm group has been the favorite of the Roosevelt-Truman Administration since the days when Henry Wallace headed Agriculture.

In appointing a farm advisory committee for the current and prospective emergency, President Truman passed over Allan Kline, head of the conservative Farm Bureau Federation. Mr. Kline was a Dewey adviser in the 1948 campaign, and had been mentioned as a possible Secretary of Agriculture, if Governor Dewey had been elected.

Mr. Truman named Mr. Patton as one of the three members. As representative of the Federation, he chose Murray Lincoln, head of the Ohio branch, and the man the White House tried to get to run against Senator Robert A. Taft.

So, the Bridges attack was a party rather than a personal effort. It was designed to aid Republican Congressional candidates in such states as Illinois, Iowa, Indiana and California, where the Farmers' Union is already under fire for its alleged radicalism.

Not to battle a crime wave—but to smother the nudist fad. More and more girls, it seems, are finding it fun to discard their bikinis . . .

If Peter Lawford intends to waltz down the aisle with Sharman Douglas, he'd better hurry. He's scheduled to go on location to Australia—next month . . .

Bruce Cabot, who used to be Errol Flynn's best pal and favorite drinking companion, will be among those conspicuously missing when Errol marries Pat Wymore in Paris. They had a big tiff before El Flynn took off for Europe . . . Robert Young and Tony Martin were the first screen stars to book passage to New York for the World Series. They brought the Little Women with them.

PAULETTE GODDARD stormed out of Ciro's in Hollywood the other night when she spotted Sy Bartlett, her current target, sharing a ringside table with Nancy Guild. (Sy wasn't supposed to notice that Paulette was on the arm of an unidentified, but handsome, glamor boy!) . . .

Midtown bartenders say the Rodeo cowboys never pay less than a dollar for a drink. Even if they order just a bottle of beer, they leave a dollar on the bar . . . Denise Darcel's equally curvaceous sister, Helene, auditioned for Rogers and Hammerstein's "Anna and the King of Siam." Very impressively, too, they say . . .

The lad Ginger Rogers "late dates" most of all is Bill Hanson, the traction magnate . . . A local showgirl probably has no idea of the real reason why she was flown to the Coast for an RKO screen test. It was arranged by her Broadway producer beau, who has grown weary of her.

Cesar Romero is likely to appear in a Rialto play this season. He was talking over a script with Monte Proser the other day . . . Well! Just when everyone thinks they're a dead issue, Gussie Moran and Pat di Cicco confuse life by acting in love again . . . The Lou Busches (Margaret Whiting) expect their baby to arrive more or less with Santa Claus.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

DENNIS J., 18, is a senior in high school.

"Dr. Crane, I am interested in public speaking," he began, "and am trying out for an oratorical contest.

"My mother wants me to give my speech to her and Dad, but I just can't do it.

"I don't know why, but I feel so embarrassed about making a speech before only one or two people.

"When I am in a large room, though, I get carried away by the stimulation of the crowd and can speak very well."

IT IS VERY common for amateurs to feel emotionally stimulated when they face a crowd.

They may then dramatize and emote to a high degree, whereas they feel sheepish and self-conscious about reciting the same oration at home.

This generally means that their speech is largely froth or "hot air."

A good speech with real "body" to it, can be delivered to one's parents alone.

IF YOU WISH to determine whether you have a good speech, try the "armchair" test.

Sit down and then "talk" your oration to only one or two people, who are likewise seated across from yourself.

If you have an amateurish speech, you simply cannot deliver it in this manner! Indeed, you will recognize the juvenile nature of your address even before you get through the first paragraph.

I know of nothing that will test the caliber of your speech any more quickly and effectively than the "armchair" treatment.

The "armchair" method is also an excellent test for your sense of humor. It will show whether you have been hoodwinking yourself as well as your public by a shallow bit of acting instead of real oratory.

When tyro speakers pace up and down before an audience, they are inclined to grow emotionally inebriated. If they survive the initial stagefright they may feel pompous and overly important.

So they begin to intone in melodramatic style, and roll out long, flowery sentences for the sheer pleasure in listening to their own voices.

But when they sit down at home in the living room and recite their speech before the home folks, it has to be good or they can't go through with it!

Then document your central theme with a few actual cases that illustrate your main idea.

If your talk is long, you may break the strain with a relevant joke or two, but save them for the middle of your address to perk up the crowd.

Then tie the wheat in the sack with a punchy conclusion.

For an emotional climax, if the occasion demands it, come down the home stretch in your peroration with poetry to cap your climax.

For rhythm seems to give an audience that tightening of the scalp, lump in the throat and tingly, goose pimply sensation far better than prose.

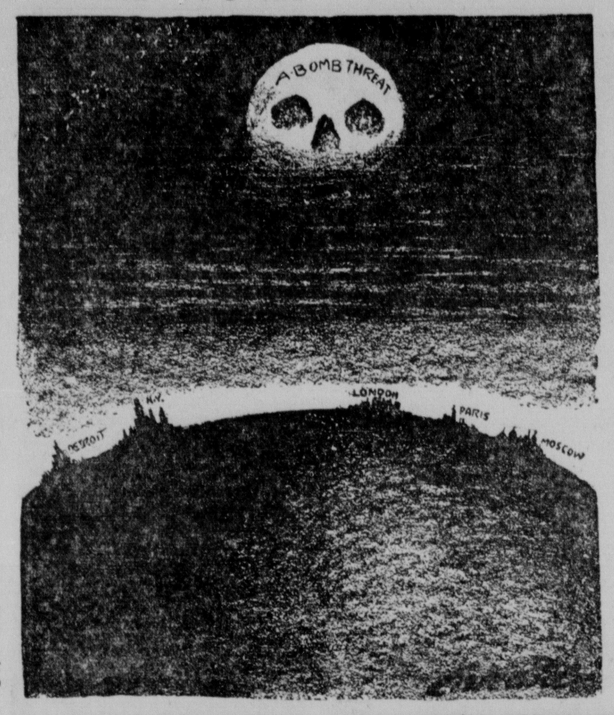
'THE WORLD TONIGHT!'



Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 5 — Edith Gwynn returns tomorrow, lucky people, so this is my swan-song for this year at least. T'anks, Edie, for the chance to try my wings, column-wise, after several years layoff. It's been confusin', hectic — but fun. And, surprisingly, perhaps, after a month of it I find I still have lots of faith, hope and love as far as Hollywood is concerned.

Stirling Hayden

Faith in directors like John Huston, and hope that there is more and more imaginative casting and fine directing . . . Faith that Stirling Hayden will get more roles as good as the one in "Asphalt Jungle".

Faith in Judy Garland's career as an actress to pick and choose . . . Hope that she doesn't go to work too quickly . . . Love for the millions of moviegoers who have demonstrated their affection for and belief in the chubby little freckle-faced kid who has grown into one of the finest entertainers of our time. We all know what it is to be scared . . . to have to fight alone.

HOPE THAT BING and Dixie Crosby live happily ever after . . . that Orson Welles returns to give Hollywood a shaking up . . . or that there's another Orson Welles? . . . Hope that Shelley Winters and Marlon Brando stay cut-ups without hurting their careers . . . and that Edie Gwynn's readers haven't all deserted the column during her absence.

Love for Mercedes McCambridge, just on general principles, and don't be jealous Fletcher Markel! . . . and love for the Brod Crawfords, as unassuming as any couple in Hollywood.

And I have faith in, and love for, the stars who do so much to entertain our service-men. I hope there'll be more of them.

STANLEY KRAMER—and there's a man all Hollywood has faith in—is really going all out to win an oscar for Jose Ferrer! "Cyrano" will be rushed to completion for November 21st opening in Hollywood. Here and elsewhere the pic will go on a road show basis—tickets for the two performances a day being sold through mutual agencies, etc. Sorry I didn't get to see Jose's performance before ending my stint on this column.

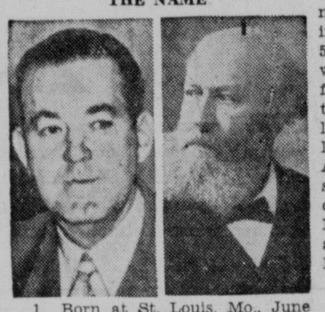
FOLKS OF FAME—GUESS THE NAME



1. Born at St. Louis, Mo., June 30, 1903, he began the practice of law in his home town and served as collector of revenue for the eastern district of Missouri. In 1943 he was appointed commissioner of internal revenue at Washington, D. C. He served as postmaster general from 1945 to 1948. He was chairman of the Democratic National committee, 1944-47. He later became interested in the operation of a major league baseball club. He died in St. Louis, Oct. 6, 1949. Who was he?

2. This talented composer was born in Paris, June 17, 1818. He studied at the Paris Conservatoire, winning the Grand Prix de Rome. The first of his compositions to be performed was a requiem in Vienna. He became an organist and was then commissioned to compose an opera on "Sapho," which, although its success was not great, brought his name to the fore. His "Faust" was a great success in London. His "Romeo and Juliet" was an immediate success. All his musical life he wrote for the church. Of his songs, the two best remembered are "Maid of Athens" and "There Is a Green Hill Far Away." He died at St. Cloud, Oct. 18, 1893. What was his name?

ALL AROUND THE TOWN

What, No Tickets?... For Love Is Blind...

★ GLOOM — Elwood "Shadow" Albright, daredevil of the Eastern Pennsylvania midget racing tracks of a few years ago, breezed back into Pottstown from his Dayton, Ohio, home the other day. He braked into a fast stop at the home of his brother, J. Henry Albright, 762 Queen street, dashed up the stairs and shouted: "Well, kid, where's the series tickets?" The Shadow read in The Mercury where his brother had applied for baseball tickets. Henry had to admit world series tickets in Pottstown were as scarce as hen's teeth. So Shadow settled down to just plain visiting his other kinfolk, sister Mabel (Keim), Hanover Heights, and brother Sydney, 1330 South street. A former Cole Tobacco company employe, Shadow Albright now is in the refrigeration business in Ohio.

HELP YOUR NEIGHBOR WEEK — A rather unusual twist has been given to the hospital survey being conducted by the Pottstown hospital. The other morning a story on the survey appeared in The Mercury which said the opinion of the public was that "Pottstown hospital should be enlarged and modernized to meet the steadily-increasing demand for more and better hospital care." So what happens? The Memorial Hospital auxiliary gives $12,000 worth of gifts to Memorial hospital that same night. Where did the girls get their idea? Right! Right from the survey their neighbors on North Charlotte street are conducting —plus a few good ideas of their own.

★ ALL THE WORLD LOVES A LOVER DEP'T—Passersby stopped to smile at the couple parked asclosea sthis in an automobile on the Franklin street side of the YMCA and smooching like frantic in 1 o'clock's broad daylight yesterday afternoon. . . . There's a regular slate quarry in the front lawn of that house in the 500 block of High street. . . . Pottstonian who got his check back and a regret notice from the Phillies that the world's series tickets had been sold out the day before, looked with askance at a long, official-looking envelope from the Philadelphia Athletics yesterday. "Could it be possible," he thought, "that ducats would come from the A's?' It wasn't impossible. It merely was a letter from Connie Mack asking the localite to donate funds to a Philadelphia charity.

FAN—World's series time, as it is now, brings pleasant memories to Ernest H. Sands, 1115 High street, The Hill's registrar. Sands was showing friends yesterday some newspaper clippings and an autographed world's series ticket stub. The autograph was that of the US's only living ex-president, Herbert Hoover. The Pottstown man sat with President Hoover in a Shibe Park box one October afternoon in 1929 when the Athletics took a fourth and decisive game from the Chicago Cubs to win the championship. Sands had a newspaper account of his "feat", a rotogravure picture of the presidential party, which clearly shows him in the box, and the ticket, which was autographed after the game.

★ PURCHASE—James Dootson, 441 King street, has purchased from James H. Arbuckle a 50-acre farm near Fleetwood. E. G. Dana, 417 Chestnut street, handled the real estate deal. Dootson plans to commute to his work at Doehler's, while Arbuckle will move to Morysville. . . . High street's white way will get brighter when the Binder real estate agency gets that brilliant new sign out in the 300 block of High street. . . . Jonathan Richards, 78-year-old father of Auctioneer Ralph Richards, dug up a newspaper clipping on a cattle sale in 1846. Prices then: cattle, $1.75 to $5 a head; sheep, 37½ cents each; hogs were sold by the herd. Today's prices: good milk cows, $400 to $450; bulls, $25 per hundred pounds; lambs, $30 a hundred pounds, and hogs, $22 a hundred pounds.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

DURING the past 30 years, the chances for injury have increased tremendously. Due to the mechanization of our civilization, we are beset by danger of accident, not only at our jobs but in the very routine of our daily lives.

Today, the annual accident toll in the United States runs into millions. Since many—perhaps most—of these injuries involve broken bones, it is of great importance that everybody learn something about the way they should be handled in order to prevent permanent disability.

There are a number of cardinal principles which must be followed in dealing with fractures.

In the first place, it is important to splint broken bones before removing the patient to a hospital for treatment. However, care must be taken in putting on the splint that further movement or dislodging of the bone fragments does not occur.

A compound fracture is a fracture in which the end of the bone has protruded through the skin. The first-aid treatment of such a fracture consists in protecting the open wound with a clean, sterile dressing. Bleeding may be controlled by putting pressure on the wound over the protective dressing. If there is a great deal of bleeding, a tourniquet may have to be put on.

After the patient is removed to the hospital, an X-ray can be taken and the patient examined to determine just how the fracture should be handled.

A broken bone should be looked on as an emergency and should be taken care of as soon as possible after the patient reaches the hospital.

The bones may be fixed in position in various ways, such as with a brace, cast, by nailing, and with metal plates. Whatever method of fixing the bones is used, the patient must be observed daily to guard against pressure, sores, and too tight bandages.

X-ray plates should be made both from the side and above, before and after broken bones are put into position. At intervals, the X-rays can be repeated to make sure the bone fragments remain in the proper position.

One-Third of Pupils in Pottstown High School To Be Given Vocational Aptitude Tests Soon

One-third of the Pottstown Senior High school graduating class will be given vocational aptitude tests, it was announced yesterday by Stanley I. Davenport Jr., vice principal.

The tests will be given by the local office of the Pennsylvania State Employment office, under the supervision of Catherine A. Coyne, manager. A schedule for the tests will be announced next week.

Davenport said that this will be the first time the tests are given for borough Senior High school upperclassmen. The employment office gave the aptitude examinations to students of Royersford, Spring City, North Coventry, East Greenville, Schwenkville and West Pottsgrove schools in 1949.

The vice principal explained that he is interviewing the 185 Seniors to see who should take the tests.

THE NUMBER of prospective graduates who have not decided definitely upon further education or a vocation and will be given the two-hour tests to help them choose, is estimated at one-third of the class.

They will be given both a written test and examinations on form boards, to test their dexterity.

It has not yet been decided whether the test administrators will go to the school or whether the Senior will go to the employment office at 362 King street.

After the students have been tested, they will be interviewed by employment office authorities to go over the test results.

Davenport said it is hoped that the testing will begin next week.

High Street Man Fined; Must Pay for Damages

Francis Poster, 138 High street, was fined $5 and costs on each of two charges of drunk and disorderly conduct last night and ordered to pay the damages to Motor Patrolman Stanley Borowy's shirt and wrist watch.

Poster was arrested Tuesday night on a warrant sworn out by his wife, Sarah. In a scuffle accompanying his arrest, Borowy's shirt was torn and his wrist watch broken.

A second warrant charging him with drunk and disorderly conduct later was sworn out by Borowy.

At a hearing last night, Justice of the Peace Raymond C. Kelley assessed Poster $37.45 which included the fines, costs and $14.45 in damages to Borowy's property.

36 Miners Are Killed In Czechoslovakia Blast

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Oct. 5 (AP)—A coal mine blast near Slezska Ostrau killed 36 miners yesterday, the Prague radio reported today.

Many other miners trapped by the blast later were freed by rescue workers, the broadcast said. The explosion was in the Michalka mine in Czechoslovakia's biggest coal field in Silesia.

The official Czechoslovak news agency, blaming a "local explosion," said workmen from mines nearby joined in the rescue work and "so proved the great solidarity of miners, the foremost builders of Socialism."

Back Seat Driver Fined For Not Having License

LONDON, Oct. 5 (AP) — Ernest Hansen was fined five shillings (70 cents) today because his wife was back seat driving without a license.

Hansen admitted to a magistrates court that he attached a motor to the rear of his bicycle built for two, obtained a provisional driver's license and set off — with his wife on the back seat.

The magistrate ruled she should have had a license, too.

Honor Club Plans Skating Party at Park Tomorrow

By BERNICE BROWN

The Honor club, of Pottstown High school, will hold a roller-skating party at Ringing Rocks park tomorrow night.

The party will be the second money-raising event for the club this year, as well as the first social gathering in a number of years. Since many churches in town have held similar parties with success, students believe the Honor club could do the same, as roller skating is popular with the younger set.

Mr. Levengood and Mrs. Hutt, sponsors of the organization, announced that the money would be used for several things, namely: For the pins given to the twenty highest in the graduating class; for baskets given to needy families at Christmas, and also for the pictures of the Honor club in the yearbook.

Tickets for the party are fifty cents and may be obtained from the following representatives: Alice Keim, Sally Rhoads, Edward Whitacre, LeRoy Hallman, Joanne Banks, Mary Elizabeth Hospador, Nancy Overholtzer, Sonia Cimbalista, Bernadine Zawaski, Shirley Kulp, Ethel Falusi, Francis Scheirer, Gerald Seiler, and Lucy Ditullo.

4 College Students To Practice Teach

By ELIZABETH MILLER

Four practice teachers from Ursinus college will be teaching in the Pottstown Senior High school from Oct. 2 to Dec. 13. They will first observe the work of teachers and later will teach.

They will be at the school every morning and in the afternoons of Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Nancy Bare will practice teach under the direction of Mr. Gable, Mr. McCabe and Mrs. Kosman, who are English teachers. Paul Kauffman is working for Mr. Levengood, Mr. Paul and Mr. McCabe, who are our social studies teachers.

John Christ will teach for Mr. Schumacher, who teaches chemistry, and Mr. Stauffer and Mr. Hughes, who teach vocational mathematics.

Elizabeth Rilling practices under Miss Moses, Miss Ludwig, Mr. McCabe and Mrs. Kosman, who teach English.

Teaching, helping students who have difficulties, correcting papers, preparing lesson plans and organizing library work are the methods by which these students will learn the technique of teaching.

EX-BBC OFFICIAL DIES

BUSHY HEATH, England, Oct. 5 (AP)—Dr. Montague John Rendall, 88, a former member of the board of governors of the British Broadcasting corporation, died today. He was headmaster of Winchester, famous English boys' school, from 1911 to 1924.

Course Offered In Office Practice At High School

By ALVA YATES

Did you know the senior high's commercial course offers a subject called office practice? This subject is taken by almost every commercial senior. It enables future secretaries to get much-needed experience, which is a top requirement in so many business firms.

The type of work given to pupils in office practice class includes duplicating work for teachers, making tickets for dances, drawing diagrams for the football coaches, and doing various other jobs that are met with during a school year.

Office practice class very much resembles a real business office. It seems so realistic, because the pupils actually pretend to be employed by, say, a "down-town" business house.

The employers, or teacher, in charge of classes are Miss Alma Klink and Miss Gertrude Harley. Robert Von Drach, head of the commercial department, acts as "head boss."

Now you see why office practice is such a necessity in the commercial course, and how it prepares the future secretaries, stenographers, and bookkeepers for the outside business world.

Athletic Association Almost Attains Goal

By ALICE KEIM

The Athletic association campaign closed yesterday, having practically reached the goal of 100 percent membership.

Students elected to serve on a board that carries on the business of the association were: President, Thomas Pollick; Vice-President, Stanley Chaplin; Secretary, Dolores Mauger; Treasurer, Sally Lou Mayer; also Vince Rettew, Lucille DiTullo, Richard Weiser and Peggy Bauman. Custodians are Fred Harvey and Claudia Elicker.

The Athletic association benefits the students by purchasing sport books for the school library, sponsoring pictures of the sports teams, donating a picture to the school each year, contributing to the support of the PHS Bowling Team, and by sponsoring Athletic assemblies and a Variety show each year.

Housework Easy Without Nagging Backache

As we get older, stress and strain, overexertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief — help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

School News Holds Campaign to Get Circulation List

By DICK JAMISON and CHIP BOONE

The Pottstown High School News campaign began Monday, Sept. 18, and lasted through Tuesday, Sept. 26.

The campaign itself was carried on by elected representatives, who obtained subscriptions from each homeroom. Posters, supplied by the mechanical drawing shop, were spread throughout the school to arouse interest.

The PHS News serves to further the interests of the students and covers the sports, plays, and other activities of the school.

The business staff of the paper includes the following: Mary Giangiacomo, who is general manager, supervises the other managers in the performance of their duties; Shirley Smith, who directed the subscription campaign and prepared lists of subscribers according to homerooms.

Also Samuel Pacific, who solicits advertising and distributes the paper to advertisers, and Kay Harbold and Dorothy Saylor, exchange managers, who send copies of the paper to schools wishing to exchange papers.

This year, because of higher publication costs, the price of the paper has increased. However, students still value the paper highly.

Teachers to Attend Curriculum Meeting

By JOANNE WHITACRE

The Southeastern district Secondary Curriculum conference will be held today at the University of Pennsylvania.

The four representatives of the Pottstown district are Miss Miriam Altenderfer, Miss Miriam Ludwig, Karl Schumacher, and William McCabe.

On Wednesday, Oct. 25, this group will present a report on developments in State-wide curriculum revision program in English, social studies, foreign languages, science, and mathematics to the entire secondary faculty of Pottstown.

12 Musicians Attend Orchestra Rehearsal

Twelve musicians turned out last night for the initial meeting of the Pottstown Recreation orchestra in Borough hall.

Commenting on the first rehearsal of the 1950-51 season, Director Paul S. Hangen Jr. expressed complete satisfaction with the performance of the group. Of the 12, only one musician had not been with the orchestra before. She is Miss Ansonia Glenn, a violinist.

Hangen announced at the conclusion of the session that for the month of October rehearsals will be held Wednesday nights at 8 o'clock, instead of on Thursdays.

The switch in time is experimental, he pointed out, because of conflicts with other schedules.

Among the numbers played last night were "Shubert's Unfinished Symphony," "Herold's Zampa Overture" and "Moussorgsky's Great Gate of Kiev."

13 'Brassiere Brigaders' Plead Innocent to Theft

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 5 (AP)—Thirteen persons implicated in the "Brassiere Brigade" theft of some $18,880 from Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company pleaded innocent today when arraigned in Criminal court.

All asked Judge Ben C. Willard for jury trials.

The judge ordered photographers barred from the courtroom because he said the defendants had "made fools of people long enough."

Most Beloved Car in the World!

Ask the owner of a 1950 Cadillac whether he expects his next car to carry the same proud name—and the chances are he will find it difficult to believe you are serious.

It simply never occurs to him that any other car could take the place of his beloved Cadillac.

And this deep respect for Cadillac goes far beyond its owners. In fact, it overflows the whole of America.

A survey just completed indicates that almost half of all the motor car owners in the United States would buy a Cadillac if they felt it suited to their economic situation.

Surely, there has been no finer example of quality's ability to hold the respect and regard of the American people.

We wish that all who want a Cadillac could own one. And we know that more would purchase Cadillacs if only they would properly evaluate these basic facts:

—the lower-priced cars in the Cadillac line cost less to buy than certain models of numerous other makes.

—you can drive a Cadillac all day long, under normal conditions, on a single tankful of gasoline.

—a Cadillac car is designed so well, and is so soundly built, that its lifespan has never been fully measured.

Why not pay us a visit soon—and see for yourself? We are sure you're closer to "The Standard of the World" than you ever thought you were!

VETERAN FAN —

bunt down the first base line.

"It was a great slide," he said. "Not one of the Yankees came anywhere near matching it during the game."

• • •

DAUB HAD NOTHING but praise for the pitching on both sides. The ball was traveling so fast that all the sluggers were swinging late, he explained.

Robin Roberts was at his peak form, he asserted. Time after time the youthful moundsman worked himself out of tight spots with magnificent control.

Reynolds, however, is a master, he added. He pitched exactly as Daub had seen him do a year ago in the World Series.

The Yankee pitcher was never even fazed by the incessant stamping, clapping and cheering of the crowd which tried to rattle him every time he was about to release an important pitch.

"Reynolds was just like an old iceberg," Daub declared. "It never bothered him. He just stood up there and threw that ball."

FROM HIS BOX, the South Hanover street merchant spotted George Ruyak, Third ward councilman, and John B. Maier, Royersford, and Paul L. Mowrey, Spring City, all acquaintances.

He waved a greeting to Charlie Berry, second base umpire, who was an old friend. They were unable to get together to talk because the game was about to begin.

ONE OF THE MOST striking impressions Daub got at the game was the apparent coldness of Joe DiMaggio. He watched him many times through his glasses, he explained, and more than once the lanky center fielder was merely standing with his hands at his sides while his team mates were on their toes and ready for anything.

He thought DiMaggio brushed rather quickly past Johnson who was on deck after he hit his homer.

Asked to compare the Whiz Kids to the 1915 National League champions he saw in action, Daub said there was no comparison.

"This is the finest Phillies baseball team I've ever seen," he asserted without question. "It's the most finished team they've ever put on the field."

FIVE LOCAL FANS saw yesterday's series game from a vantage point enjoyed by few — within spitting distance of the Yankee dugout.

Most of the group sat in a box seat just above the Yankees dugout. In the box were Mr. and Mrs. John H. Longaker, 500 North Franklin street, their son, Jack, student at the University of Pennsylvania, and Homer Wentz, Allentown, Mrs. Longaker's brother, and Mrs. Wentz.

Farther down, toward first base, but only 12 rows from the field, were Harry N. Daylor, 1150 High street, and William H. Bernhardt, 846 High street.

Longaker, local attorney, got the ducats through George H. Harrison, treasurer of the Phillies. The seats were in God's country of baseball fandom.

"I had just seen Dan Topping's picture (Daniel R. Topping, president of the Yankees) in the program, when I looked up and there he was only a few feet away," said Mrs. Longaker last night.

A few more feet away, she said, was Connie Mack, venerable manager of the Athletics.

FOR BERNHARDT, general manager of the J. B. March company, it was an unaccustomed veiw of a baseball game.

From 1934 to the past year he was a base and plate umpire in the East Penn semi-pro league. He worked the games in evenings and on weekends.

The umpiring of yesterday's game "couldn't have been any better," he conceded. "After all, why shouldn't it be? They're the best in the business, aren't they?"

All the local group expected to sit in on the contest if the Phillies are still in the running by Monday and the series returns to Philadelphia.

JOSEPH A. GUTHRIE, Maple Gardens, who was among the earliest here to receive Series tickets, took the tabs from his office safe yesterday and put them to good use.

Guthrie wasn't at all overwhelmed with the game when he returned home last night, and said he didn't get excited until the extra inning, even though the game was the first in a World Series that he has ever seen.

"When they pinched off Richie Ashburn in the ninth," he commented, "that did it."

Borough Briefs

Walter Bradley, Bechtelsville RD 1, will receive a summons from Justice of the Peace Raymond C. Kelley, of the Second ward, for allegedly passing a red light at High and Washington streets.

Bradley was charged with the offense by Patrolman Charles Stetler. Stetler said he made a right turn onto High street after passing a red light while traveling south on Washington street.

The illegal turn was reported to have been made at 2:25 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Obituaries

MRS. LAURA T. (MILLER) CHRISTMAN, 91, of 127 NORTH HANOVER STREET, died in Pottstown hospital yesterday afternoon of complications following a fall in which she fractured her hip.

Mrs. Christman fell at her home on Aug. 7 and was taken immediately to Pottstown hospital. She was living with a cousin, Mrs. Margaret Hatfield, for the past four years.

She was born in Sanatoga, a daughter of the late Joseph T. and Elizabeth (Henricks) Miller, and had lived in this area all her life, most of the time in Pottstown.

Before living at 127 North Hanover street, Mrs. Christman had lived for many years at 367 Walnut street. That was her home when her husband, Montgomery Christman, died on Labor Day, 1912.

Mr. Christman had been a vice president of the Citizens' National bank, a Montgomery county commissioner for four years, the proprietor of a coal, feed and lumber business and the Reading company station agent at Sanatoga.

Mrs. Christman was a member of St. James Lutheran church, Limerick. She is survived only by cousins, nieces and nephews.

Services, incomplete last night, are in charge of a funeral home at 359 King street.

Funeral services for CHARLES WARGO, husband of the late Julia Wargo, POTTSTOWN RD 3, were held yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock from a funeral home at 404 High street.

The Rev. Tibor Csikesz, pastor of Hungarian Reformed church, Phoenixville, officiated. Interment was in Edgewood cemetery.

NLRB Ends Stymie With Counsel Over Taft-Hartley Rulings

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP) — The National Labor Relations board today ended a three-year deadlock with its general counsel over the scope of the agency's operations under the Taft-Hartley act.

Seven clear-cut areas were staked out in which the board would accept jurisdiction, and an NLRB spokesman told a news conference that George J. Bott, new general counsel, concurred in the policy.

That meant an end to the bickering that had taken place for three years — since the Taft-Hartley act became effective — between the five-man board and former General Counsel Robert N. Denham, who was ousted by President Truman on Sept. 18.

Generally, Denham had insisted the board lacked authority to determine what cases it would handle because the law said any enterprise which affected interstate commerce fell within the board's jurisdiction. The board contended that it can decide what kind of cases affecting commerce it should handle.

In the long run, such a policy by the board would be futile unless the general counsel agreed. He has authority to determine what kind of unfair practice complaints to press and what kind to dismiss.

IN TODAY'S announcement the board said that because of the mobilization program, it would take jurisdiction over any establishment "substantially affecting national defense."

The six other areas in which it will assume jurisdiction are:

1. Any "instrumentality or channel" of interstate and foreign commerce, such as a radio station, whether part of a network or not.
2. All public utility and transit systems.
3. Establishments which operate as parts of an interstate enterprise, such as chain stores and branches of national or interstate organizations.
4. Enterprises producing or handling goods or services for out-of-state shipment valued at $25,000 or more a year.
5. Enterprises which annually furnish $50,000 worth of services or materials necessary to the operation of enterprises falling into categories 1, 2, or 4.
6. Any other enterprise which has: (A) A direct inflow from out of state, of material valued at $500,000 a year. (B) An indirect inflow of material valued at $1,000,000 a year. (C) A combination inflow or outflow of goods which add up to at least 100 percent of the amounts required points 4, 5, and 6.

The last yardstick was complicated but it was explained that the amount of business done by firms in interstate commerce would be added up. If the total came to 50 percent of the inflow requirement and 50 percent of the outflow requirement a firm would be subject to NLRB jurisdiction.

Where GIs Died

Inspection of the site near Taejon, South Korea, where 40 GIs were reportedly murdered is made by Maj. Gen. John H. Church. A Korean witness reported that 42 GIs were forced by Communists to dig their own graves and only two of them survived.

New Members Enroled By Phillies at Meeting

Two new members were admitted to the Philadelphia Steam Fire Engine company at a routine monthly meeting last night.

G. Henry Schmoyer, president, had charge of the session.

It was estimated that 50 members attended.

Packing your order may sound like a little thing, but our trained employees give it a lot of thought.

They know that it isn't right to place five pounds of flour on top of a quarter pound of butter . . . or to place soap next to cheese.

The men and women of A&P will appreciate it if you will let them have any suggestions as to how they can make a handier package for you to take home. Please write:

Library Club Hears Address on Getting Along With Others

"Women I Know and How to Get Along Together" was the theme of Miss Marjorie Penney, vice president of the Philadelphia Fellowship House, as she spoke before the Women's Library club, of Spring City, at its first Fall meeting in Tall Cedars temple.

"The women I know," said Miss Penney, "are not the great ones you read about, but the more unfortunate ones who are seeking a way to get along together." She touched on the story of a Negro woman who was attending a convention in the Middle West and whom she came to know personally.

This woman was a doctor's wife and the daughter of a doctor. She related the hard times the Negro race faces in trying to gain an education.

Members of Phi Betta Kappa, including professors, doctors, dentists worked on Pullman trains to earn enough to gain an education.

There was a time, she related, when a Negro race was looked upon as only people to scrub floors and there was always an existing "dividing line." She said that something happened the past year, a lot of folks became worried about the people in her city, and all the old things that divided aren't there anymore. People are closer today and are learning how people can get along together, regardless of race, creed or color.

MISS PENNEY stated that "people were made for each other; God created us so. We must learn to get along with others for a man wrapped up in himself makes a small package indeed.

Regardless of what faith, creed or color the doors of Fellowship house are always open and when it was founded in 1941, in an old firehouse, all they had to start with was faith, prayer, a typewriter and $500.

Today they serve 1500 daily in their restaurant and every Tuesday night 3000 high school boys and girls come to Fellowship house to be taught how to get along with people.

Miss Penney then declared "how to keep the peace of the world will not come from big far off places, but will come from little people from little places for peace has to begin on our street."

She closed her remarks with "the river ran crooked only because it ran alone and people will only go straight when they go together."

MRS. ROBERT Peiffer, chairman of the program committee, turned the meeting over to Mrs. Carl Shoneman, chairman of education, who introduced the speaker.

Mrs. Harry K. Gerlach, newly elected president, in opening the meeting, welcomed the members and guests and expressed her thanks and appreciation to all who helped with the meeting.

During the business session Mrs. Raymond C. Williams and Mrs. Emma M. Wells read the treasurer's report in the absence of Mrs. A. J. Balch.

Miss Bertha Brower presented the recording secretary's report, in the absence of Mrs. William S. Jones.

Mrs. George Emrey reported on the return of the wheelchair that is now available without charge to anyone who will contact Mrs. Irvin Garber, chairman of health and welfare, or Mrs. Gerlach, club president.

Presentation of the budget, as recommended by the executive board, was read by Mrs. Emma M. Wells, finance chairman. It was adopted on motion.

The books were audited by Mrs. E. H. Latshaw and Mrs. Franklin Wacha, and were reported in order.

THE FINANCE committee's project for this year will be the sale of Three Crowns Silver, which was outlined by Miss V. Mason. The latter was introduced by Mrs. Wells. The campaign will be held four weeks, starting with November and each member of the finance committee will be given names to contact.

Mrs. John Lincoln, in her annual attendance report paid tribute to the late Mrs. Loren Guss, club member, who died the past summer, by asking the club members to observe a moment's silence in her memory.

A brief report on the southeastern District meeting, held recently in the Lincoln hotel, Reading, was given by Mrs. Ivin C. Young, citizenship chairman.

A plant exchange will be held in December, as announced by Mrs. John Wilson, chairman of conservation and gardens.

Mrs. Carl Shoneman reported that three PTA meetings will be held each year. The purpose of the organization is to create a better understanding between parent and teacher.

Mrs. Shoneman also reported on the Community fair, which will be held tonight and tomorrow night in the high school.

MRS. IVIN C. YOUNG advised the club members that a "walker", used by persons with broken leg or hip or who needs help in walking again, is available to anyone who will contact Mrs. Walter Kirchhoff, Arch street, Spring City, who donated it to the club.

Mrs. Robert Peiffer, program chairman, announced the Royersford Women's club will be guests at the November meeting.

Announcement was made that the Oxford county meeting will be held Oct. 19. Ten items are needed for the sales table and members were urged to fill this quota.

Six new members who were admitted and introduced by Mrs. Charles M. Taylor, membership chairman, include Mrs. M. L. Blauser, Mrs. Llewellyn Griffith, Mrs. Grant Koplin, Mrs. Neal McClellan, Mrs. Raymond Schnell and Mrs. Murl O. Tiffany.

Mrs. Raymond Y. Miller, chairman of the art committee, reported an art corner will be set up at each meeting. The display this month was by Mrs. Norman S. Mowrey, who showed ceramics.

Reports were heard from Mrs. Harry C. Weber, chairman of American home; Mrs. Charles Ludwick, Girl Scouts; Mrs. Gurth Chambers, drama chairman; Miss Bertha Brower, librarian, and Mrs. Lawrence Belman, music chairman.

REPORT OF THE attendance chairman, Mrs. John Lincoln, included 57 members present, six new members and three guests. Guests present were: Mrs. Albert H. Everett, Parkerford; Mrs. C. L. Muhleman, Parkesburg, West Va., and Mrs. Francis T. Krusen, Norristown.

Mrs. Norman S. Mowrey and Mrs. Fletcher Kitchen were in charge of decorating the club rooms with Fall flowers.

Miss Bertha Brower submitted the corresponding secretary's report and reported on the newly painted library.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Thomas O. Haggerty, Mrs. Harry C. Weber and Mrs. Raymond Y. Miller.

YOUTH DANCE PLANNED

Another Youth dance has been planned for tomorrow night from 8:30 to 11:30 o'clock in Royersford Baptist Recreation center for young people of Royersford and Spring City. No charge will be made for admittance.

The National Geographic Society says the Russians make beer and syrup from watermelon juice.

Fire Company Officials Fined on Gambling Count

Pleading guilty to charges of setting up and maintaining gambling devices, five officials of Liberty Fire company, Spring City, were fined $25 each and costs in Chester county court at West Chester, Wednesday by Judge Ernest Harvey.

The men were Harry Diehl, president; Rudy Kirchhof, Raymond Reigner, Carl Hunsberger, all members of the board of trustees, and William Bauer, manager. Costs amounted to $19.65 each.

The men were placed under arrest the past July when a raiding party found nine slot machines in the recreation room of the firehouse.

Surprise Shower Held For Linfield Woman

Attending were Mrs. Mary Ewing, Gertrude Ewing, Betty Moyer, Betty Jane Hettrick, Linfield; Mrs. Preston Frankenberg, Janice Frankenberg, Mrs. Edgar Nettles, Limerick; Mrs. Clarence Collopy, Mrs. Suzie Ewing, Janet Slaughter, Spring City; Mrs. Arletta Nettles, and Mrs. William Hoffert, Royersford.

Former Inn Proprietor Reported Seriously Ill

George Lincoln, Miami, Fla., formerly of Norristown, and a former owner of the Rose Bowl inn, Zieglerville, was reported in a serious condition in Mt. Sinai hospital, Miami, following a recent attack of illness.

Lincoln, who also formerly resided at Pottstown Landing, reportedly was afflicted with a stroke. He is a brother of Harvey T. Lincoln, Royersford RD 1, and John H. Lincoln, Spring City.

'Ford Cub Pack 232 Hikes to Thomas' Dam

Den 4 Royersford Cub Pack 232 enjoyed a night hike to Thomas' dam, where they were assisted by the den chief, Eugene Bergstresser, in building a council fire overlooking Mingo creek.

As the flames leaped skyward, the boys sat around the fire, Indian style, while the den mother, Mrs. Fred Schad, read the story of Akela, an Indian warrior. Akela is the leader of the legendary tribe, Webelos, in cubbing.

Robert Schad and Harry Meitzler, each told a brief story. The meeting closed by offering a sacrifice to the Indian god, in the form of toasted marshmellows.

Those attending were Harry and Earl Brungess, Terry Skeen, Harry Meitzler, Herbert Shivers, Robert Schad, Mrs. Schad the den mother, and Eugene Bergstresser, the den chief.

3 Lithuanian DPs Visit Here; One Is 99 Years Old

A smiling and happy 99-year old Lithuanian mother and her equally as happy son-in-law and daughter, who arrived in New York Saturday on a displaced persons transport to live in the United States, came to Royersford Wednesday on a visit.

Claiming she will be 100 years old Nov. 6, Mrs. Juze (Josephine) Marcinkevicius, who back in 1939 witnessed the invasion of her village outside Kaunas by the Russians and then its capture later by the Germans, is here to begin a new life in America.

Accompanying her on the voyage to the U. S. were her son-in-law and daughter, Andrew and Anna Laukaitis, and the couple's son, Waclowas.

After World War II, Mrs. Marcinkevicius was separated from her family and was placed in a displaced persons camp in Germany. They were later reunited. All have been living in Bavaria, southern Germany, since they were brought together.

SPONSORS OF THE elderly woman's trip to the U. S. are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ambrose, 1420 Mt. Vernon street, Philadelphia, where the four remained for a few days after their arrival from abroad.

Since then they have been visiting Mrs. Marcinkevicius' grandson, Charles Laukaitis; his wife, Josephine and three children, also natives of Lithuania, who have been in this country only about 15 months, and living in Linfield. The three children are Edmund, Algis and Raymond.

The aged mother, her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Laukaitis, and Mrs. Charles Laukaitis and son, Algis, came to Royersford to visit Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. White, 317 North Fifth avenue. Mrs. White and Mrs. Charles Laukaitis are cousins.

Mrs. Marcinkevicius, although having poor vision and being hard of hearing, is otherwise in good health except for a handicap suffered when she broke her leg twice while in the camp in Germany. As a result she requires assistance when walking. She is the oldest displaced person to come to this country.

Responsible Job Doesn't Hinder Home Life Of Career Wife, Mrs. Harold H. Wentzel

By MARY JANE FEGELY
(Mercury Staff Writer)

Sitting in her warm, cozy living room, Mrs. Harold H. Wentzel, 910 North Washington street, looks just the same as any other average housewife who has settled down for a comfortable evening, with nothing more serious to think of than what to have for dinner the next day.

Her calm appearance is by no means a cloak. But from there on the picture is one of another color.

She not only has to think of what to have for her own dinner the next day, but also of how to keep dozens of others satisfied with their breakfast, lunch and dinner.

Mrs. Wentzel is, besides a happy housewife, the manager of the local Howard Johnson restaurant—a position which is held by only three or four other women in the United States. She is also the only woman on the Howard Johnson Executive Board of District 2, which includes Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and Virginia.

THIS AMAZING woman turns the neatest trick of any year as she spends at least 60 hours a week on her profession, and still does her own cooking, housekeeping and manages to keep her husband happy.

Woman's World
A special feature devoted to Pottstown's career women.

"One thing in my favor, though," she says, "is that I have a wonderful husband. He's just as thrilled about my job as I am, and we are both very happy."

Mrs. Wentzel is one of those rare persons who doesn't let the importance of a job get her excited.

"When I have my nights off, Tuesday and Wednesday, I can come home or go out and never even once worry about what's happening at work," she explained. "After all, nothing so terrible will happen while I'm away that the staff can't handle; and if it does, there's always the telephone. They usually know where I am."

While she enjoys two afternoons and evenings off a week, Mrs. Wentzel "closes shop" every night at midnight.

"I don't mind going back at all," she smiled. "I love my job very much, and I've worked hard to get where I am."

While in Pottstown Senior High school she worked after classes at a hot dog stand and then, after graduating, took a nine months' training course at the Lewis Hotel Training center in Washington, D.C.

There she gathered important information on diateticcs, purchasing, waitress work and acting as hostess. For four years after that, she was employed as head waitress and also helped in the purchasing, at the Shuler House in Pottstown.

After that, followed an eight-year stint as hostess at the Washington inn in Valley Forge.

"In November of 1945, I answered an advertisement for the job of assistant manager at Johnson's, and got the job after a three-week preliminary course. Luck was really with me, for after working for six weeks as assistant manager, the manager left, and the job was mine.

"I'll never forget my first meeting with the board. I was very nervous then, but everyone was so nice that I soon felt at ease, and now I enjoy the meetings very much. Through them I get a sort of vacation. Our Fall meetings are held for five days in Cape Cod, Mass.; the Spring and Christmas meetings in Boston, Mass., and then one meeting in New York City," she said.

One of the reasons Mrs. Wentzel is so happy about her job is that she feels that none of the other employes resent her. Two of the waitresses started at the same time she did, and others were hired with the knowledge of who the "boss" was.

"They've always seemed to accept me as their manager," she said, "and I think I'm safe in saying that everyone is contented."

AFTER GETTING up at 6:30 in the morning, opening a restaurant, checking with the head chef about the various kinds of foods, checking with the waitresses on the table settings, Mrs. Wentzel still delights in cooking her own meals on her free days.

"I like to cook, and since I only get a chance to do it about two nights a week, it's more or less an occasion," she said.

Despite her long hours, Mrs. Wentzel claims her job is not hard, because "if you're doing something you enjoy, it never seems hard."

The most appealing thing about her profession, Mrs. Wentzel says, is meeting people, in whom she has a great amount of faith.

"I meet many different kinds and types of people, and each one is fascinating to me. Sometimes, but not very often, I run into a customer who simply walks out and doesn't pay his bill.

"I've never called them back, or embarrased them in any way, but you know, people, thank goodness, have consciences, and in every single case, the customer who has willfully walked out without paying his bill has sent a check to me later—sometimes months later—telling me that he or she is sorry.

"Then, too, sometimes people just forget or, if they are in a large crowd, think someone else has paid the bill. In those cases, one of the group always shows up later to pay.

"I LIKE Pottstown, and I like it's people. I think they are honest," she said with sincerity.

Mrs. Wentzel, the former Marion E. Quay, was born in Phoenixville, and came to Pottstown when she was 13 years old. Besides her professional and home activities, she is one of two assistant editors of The Scoop, the company newspaper.

"There's always a thrill in store for all of us when one of the popular orchestra leaders comes to town and visits our restaurant," she said. "I enjoy talking to them, and of course the waitresses like to wait on celebreties."

Although she is not waiting for the day when she will retire, Mrs. Wentzel has just one other ambition, if she should ever stop her present work.

"I would like to see a training center for waitresses started in Pottstown. In fact, that's sort of a secret ambition of mine," she confided. "If I ever stop work, and I hope that's a long way off, I should like to help other women become good waitresses and restaurant hostesses."

If you have a little leftover chicken team it with celery, almonds and mayonnaise and use for a delicious luncheon sandwich. Serve the sandwiches with a hot vegetable soup such as asparagus or tomato.

Gay Glitter Models Announced for Show To Be Held Nov. 8

Her Second Home . . . the Office

Just as much at home in her office as she is at 910 North Washington street is Mrs. Harold H. Wentzel (above), one of the few women managers of a Howard Johnson restaurant. Next month she will observe five years of service to the company as it's local manager.

State Officers Guests At DAR First Meeting

The opening meeting of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Mahanatawny chapter, was held yesterday afternoon at a luncheon in the Clover Leaf restaurant.

Mrs. Hugh Craig, regent, presided.

The guest speakers were Mrs. Emily Gadschall and Mrs. Isaac Shelly, both of Norristown, and Mrs. Henry Showalter of Lancaster, all State officers of the DAR.

Entertainment was provided by George Pollins who sang, and Miss Mary Jo Szalich who presented readings.

Bridal Shower Is Staged For Mrs. Donald Bush

Mrs. Bush was the former Miss Grace Batdorf Kline, daughter of Mr. Charles S. Batdorf, Pottstown RD 2.

After the opening of gifts, refreshments were served and games played.

Guests included: Mrs. Irvin Ingham, Miss Eleanor Ingham, Mrs. James Dillaplaine, Mrs. Harry Bush, Mrs. Robert Bush, Mrs. Leonard Neiman, Miss Jane Fulmer, Mrs. Conrad Batdorf, Mrs. Jarrold Batdorf, Mrs. Charles R. Batdorf and son Robbie; Miss Berdella Batdorf, Miss Deanna Batdorf, Mrs. Kenneth Neiman and sons, Daniel and Richard.

Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson Married 50 Years Today

It's a golden wedding anniversary day for Mr. and Mrs. Albert Atkinson, of Pughtown, who are celebrating 50 years of married life today.

A very quiet celebration is planned by the couple who have four children living and seven grandchildren. The children are Mrs. Harvey Haldeman, of Chester Springs; Mrs. Leonard Yocum, of Newton; Mr. Clyde Atkinson, of Glen Mills, and Mr. Cary Atkinson, of Kimberton.

Mr. and Mrs. Haldeman will give a dinner party in honor of the couple's anniversary, Sunday at their home.

Visiting Nurse Group Holds Board Meeting Year's Officers and Committees Elected

An election of officers was held and reports were read last night when the Visiting Nurse organization held its annual board meeting at the home of president, Mrs. Wharton Huber, Littlebrook Farm.

Mrs. Huber entertained at luncheon before the meeting.

It was reported at the business meeting that Miss E. Margaret Haire, staff nurse, has completed her National Civilian Defense First Aid course given at Norristown High school.

Also that Miss Leona Smith had recently spoken on the duties of a visiting nurse, at a luncheon given by a committee in Norristown which has organized to set up a visiting nurse service in that city.

The social security plan covering employes of non profit organizations was discussed by the board.

The annual Community Chest campaign was discussed and many board members and all staff members volunteered to assist.

A report of the X-ray program being conducted by the Montgomery County Tuberculosis society in cooperation with the Pottstown Christmas Seal committee, was given.

Printed annual reports were distributed to all board members. They stated that 5492 visits were made to 578 patients during the year.

The following people were placed in office: Mrs. Wharton Huber, president; Mrs. Arthur H. Simpson, first vice president; Mrs. David Pollock, second vice president; Mrs. J. B. Lessig, third vice president; Mrs. David Todd Jones, recording secretary; Mrs. A. Burtis Hallock, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Robert A. Feroe Jr., treasurer, and Mrs. Herbert F. Eades, assistant treasurer.

Finance committee, chairman, Mrs. Eades; car, chairman, Mrs. Francis L. Lavertu; Personell, chairman, Mrs. Jones; nursing, Mrs. S. T. Nicholson Jr.; publicity, Miss Smith; needlework guild, Mr. Lavertu; national organization for public health nursing, Mrs. Lewis A. Holmes, and medical advisory board, Dr. Alice E. Sheppard.

Others who were present besides those mentioned were Mrs. John J. Anastasia, Mrs. Ralph C. Johnson, Mrs. William E. Mills, and Mrs. L. Eastburn Potts.

Toys Needed for Project Supported by Junior Club

Mrs. Lewis M. Marks, president of the Junior Woman's club, of Birdsboro, announced at a recent executive board meeting, held at her home, that any toy donations will be gladly accepted for the kindergarten sponsored by the club.

Mrs. Calvin Hartman, kindergarten chairman, gave a report on the kindergarten which is now in progress. An appropriation was made to purchase additional necessary equipment.

Plans for the fashion show to be held Oct. 16 in the Birdsboro High school auditorium, were discussed. The proceeds from the show will go into the kindergarten fund.

Further plans were also made for the dance to be held Nov. 18, at the Wyomissing club.

A buffet luncheon was served by the hostess, after the meeting.

Those present were: Mrs. Calvin Hartman, Mrs. John Bradley, Miss Edna May Winterhalter, Mrs. Jesse Diffenderfer, Mrs. Wilmer Roberts, Miss Ethel Martin, Mrs. Daniel Swavely, Mrs. William Geiger and Mrs. Arthur Stuart.

Upper Pottsgrove PTA Will Purchase Picture

Upper Pottsgrove Parent-Teachers association held a meeting recently at the school with Mr. Melvin Stroop presiding.

Mr. Stroop has been elected president in place of Mrs. Elizabeth Mercer, who is moving from the community.

The membership drive, which is in progress, was discussed and it was announced that a prize will be awarded to each child who brings in three new members. An award will also be given to the room bringing in the most members.

It was also announced that the PTA will donate a sum of money to the school so that it can join the Film library where children's films are available.

The group voted to purchase a picture which will be circulated throughout the school and hang in the room having the highest attendance for a period of time.

Mrs. Blanche Beaver and Mrs. Katharine Kline of the hospitality committee presented small corsages to the members present. They also served refreshments.

Presbyterian Brownies Plan Hallowe'en Party

Plans for a Hallowe'en party Oct. 28 at 2 o'clock were made Wednesday afternoon by members of Brownie Scout Troop 23 of First Presbyterian church in the scout rooms.

Refreshments: Margaret Scheffey, Grace Rohland and Shirley Graham; decorations: Jane Creswell, Lynn Prizer and Miriam Marcy.

The remainder of the meeting was spent in working on handicrafts.

Other Brownies present were: Elizabeth Scheffey, Annette Sensenig, Susan Whisler, Marcia Lee Zeigler, Patricia Lord, Peggy Ann Benne and Charlene Himes.

Investiture Service Held By Troop 4 Girl Scouts

Five girls were invested into Girl Scout Troop 4 of Grace Lutheran church last night in the scout rooms of the church.

Those invested were Joan Russell, Nancy Henry, Anita Shaner, Susanne Keeler and Joan Caleen.

During the business meeting the girls studied first aid and learned a new song. It was announced that next week bandages will be stressed during the first aid course.

Leaders were Miss Mary Ellen Guest, Miss LaRue Bickel and Miss Mildred Geist. Visitors were Judith Fryer and Marsha Boughter.

Mr. Impink Elected Head Of Church Social Club

The St. Aloysius Social club met for the first time last night in the hall of St. Aloysius Parochial school, and elected officers.

Mr. Albert Impink will serve as president; Mrs. Leo McGee, vice president; Mrs. Patricia Eschbach, recording secretary; Mrs. Harry Loughney, corresponding secretary; Mr. Paul Guthrie, treasurer; and Mr. Anthony Confino, sergeant at arms.

The Rev. Francis Donovan, assistant rector at the church, is the chaplain.

The meeting was conducted by the temporary chairman, Mrs. Samuel Koury. It was announced that a barn dance will be held Oct. 25. Members may come masked, although dress is optional.

For a meeting, the group set the second Thursday of every month as the date of their meetings at 8 o'clock in the school hall.

If you are redoing your kitchen be sure to plan adequate storage space. Kitchen utensils kept in hard-to-get-at places make twice as much work for the housekeeper and cook.

Officers Re-elected At Social Meeting of Trinity Ladies' Aid

Mrs. Lillian Longenberger was re-elected president of the Ladies' Aid society of Trinity Evangelical and Reformed church for the third term last night at a covered dish social in the social rooms of the church.

Other officers elected were: Mrs. Bertha Stephens, vice president, also for the third term; Mrs. Kline Geyer, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Margaret Hanley, secretary, second term; Mrs. Lloyd Klink, treasurer; and Mrs. Elmer Young, publicity, third term.

Mrs. Edwin Kurtz read the Scripture, and the president presided over the meeting. It was reported that seven visits to sick and shut-in members of the church had been made during the month. A rummage sale will be held Oct. 24 and 25 in the church basement.

Members attending were: Mrs. William Young, Mrs. Lloyd Stephens, Mrs. Eli Schaeffer, Mrs. Young, Mrs. Kurtz, Mrs. John B. Frantz, Mrs. Klink, Mrs. Samuel Hafer, Mrs. Harry Reigner, Miss Elizabeth Beiderwolf, Miss Martha Fenstermacher and Mrs. Longenberger.

Guests included: the Rev. John B. Frantz Mr. Richard Frantz, Mr. Elmer Young and Mr. Edwin Kurtz.

Card Party Plans Made By VFW Post Auxiliary

Plans to resume monthly card parties were formulated last night when the Woman's Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign War Post 780, held a meeting at the home.

The first card party will be held Monday, Oct. 23, 8 p. m. at the home.

Mrs. Mabel Bowers, president, coducted the meeting.

An announcement was made that a donation from the Post will be sent to a hospital doing cancer work.

Plans were made for a dinner party party which will be given in honor of department president, Mrs. Emily Markle, Wednesday, Oct. 18, at the Casa Conti, Jenkintown.

Mrs. Mary King was transferred from the Schuylkill Haven Auxiliary to Post 780.

The pig-in-the-box was won by Miss Helen Gottshall.

To prepare an easy supper dish, spread mashed potato over a greased shallow baking dish or pie plate, top with well-seasoned flaked fish and another layer of the mashed potato. Bake in a modern oven for about 20 minutes, or until top is puffy and lightly browned.

Mrs. Trego Speaks Before PTA Group In Kenilworth School

Mrs. Albert Trego, a school nurse, spoke on "The Child and His Health" last night before members of Kenilworth Parent Teacher Association in the schoolhouse.

She discussed the Summer round-up held every Spring for pre-school children. This activity is sponsored by the National Teachers association and was organized in North, Coventry school about ten years ago by Mr. Paul Grim, supervising principal.

The nurse explained that very few epidemics have occurred in the North Coventry school. She also told the parents about the physical examinations for students in grades one, three and five, and reported that dental examinations for children in the same grades will begin soon. After these examinations reports are sent to the parents.

Mr. Kenneth Hartung, president, presided over the meeting, and devotions were led by Mrs. Neil Knifen. During the business session, the membership drive awards were given to Donald Reigner and Jane Stauffer.

Items discussed included playground equipment, safety patrols, and the merchandise club, which opens Oct. 9, with Mrs. Aubrey Missimer, Mrs. Kenneth Hartung and Mrs. Wayne Grim serving on the committee.

It was announced that a square dance will be held in the near future. Members were asked to save old clothing to contribute to the PTA when it holds its rummage sale April 11, 1951.

Attendance awards were given to Mrs. Knifen and Mrs. Wilmer Hohn. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Harry Bickel and Mrs. James Bickel.

St. James WMS Group Holds Monthly Meeting

Mrs. Clarence Fry, president, presided.

A report on the executive meeting held at the Grace Lutheran church, was given.

Business on hand included plans for the annual thank offering service on Sunday, Nov. 5 to be held in connection with the regular morning service. The guest speaker will be announced in the future.

Mrs. John Tyson held a discussion on the topic "We Learn to Worship," assisted by Mrs. Edward Horn, Mrs. Ellen Hildebrand and Miss Stella Swinehart. Several hymns were sung in connection with the topic. Miss Dorothy Sutton accompanied on the piano.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Harold Norton, Mrs. William Saylor and Mrs. Hunter Strunk.

Those present were: Mrs. George Mayer, Mrs. Horace Shellenberger, Mrs. Dennis Loughlan, Mrs. Clarence Fry, Mrs. Minnie Funk, Mrs. Harry Sweinhart, Mrs. Luther Wright, Mrs. Wayne Knause, Mrs. Charles Emminger, Mrs. Sebo Betten.

Also Mrs. John Schneck, Mrs. Henry Saylor, Mrs. Marie Will, Miss Edna Cressman, Miss Ellen Margeret, and Miss Elizabeth Mayer.

ABC Told Problems Of Managing Local Legion Junior Nine

Raymond "Pidgie" Kepner, who piloted the Pottstown American Legion Junior Baseball team to State runner-up position this season, discussed his managerial problems before the American Business club at the Elks club last night.

A former major league ball player, Kepner described how the local team was built in four years.

He also acknowledged the assistance he obtained in finding talent for the squad, including the scouting efforts of Gene Kauler, Pottstown Junior High school coach, and Joe Much, sports editor of The Mercury.

In addition to telling of the Legion team's rise, Kepner held a "Monday morning" critique of the Phillies-Yankees World series struggle in Philadelphia.

Five delegates from the Pottstown club were named to attend the district convention of the ABC in Norristown on Oct. 13-14.

Those named are Harold E. Binder, Joe Bowen, James C. Wilke, Joseph Hahn and Walter F. McCurdy.

ALLIES GATHER —

North Korea after defeat in the south.

PILOTS SAID one convoy of between 40 and 50 vehicles was broken up while moving south from Sariwon toward Chaeryong. Those towns are 35 and 45 miles south of the Red capital of Pyongyang.

Another convoy was attacked as it moved east from Pyongyang toward Wonsan, industrial city on the east coast.

South Korean Third division troops, battling more than 60 miles inside North Korea up the east coast road, are within 50 air miles of Wonsan. Pilots estimated this second convoy had between 50 and 60 vehicles.

Other planes spotted a group of about 35 vehicles 40 miles north of Pyongyang at Anju. The planes lighted the group with flares then swept low in bombing and machine-gun attacks. Pilot reported "excellent" results.

In all night operations, the pilots claimed destruction of 29 trucks, 28 vehicles, three locomotives, 13 box cars and 63 or more military buildings.

ATROCITIES —

were read at Pusan Wednesday by Graham Lucas, the commission's acting deputy principal secretary.

The commission then messaged a preliminary report on the atrocities to U.N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie at Lake Success.

"First hand information has been obtained by the commission's field observers of the murder of civilians and prisoners of war despite assurances of the North Korean authorities that the latter would be treated in accordance with the principles of the Geneva conventions," the commission told Lie.

"Additional evidence is currently being gathered to indicate that the atrocities have been committed on a large scale in areas formerly occupied by the North Korean authorities. These atrocities involve in some cases the brutal beating and mutilating of persons prior to being murdered."

The commission said its observers viewed more than 800 bodies of slain South Koreans in Taejon "and more were being exhumed at the time the scenes of atrocities were inspected."

"The commission condemns the complete disregard by the North Korean authorities of civilized standards of behavior as well as of the principle of the Geneva conventions despite assurances to the contrary."

'FORD PRINCIPAL —

ford could not accept Limerick pupils this year.

As a result, he said, the Royersford district lost approximately $10,000 income and was blamed falsely for barring the pupils.

Asked at the time why Royersford could not take the township's pupils, Hartman denied the charge. Royersford could not seat all Limerick tuition pupils, he said. But, he added, he had told township officials that the matter was to be resolved by the two school boards.

THE RESIGNATION ended a career with the school that began in September, 1929, when Hartman joined the staff as history and social studies teacher in the high school.

For several years he acted as high school teacher-principal until December, 1939, when the board named him as supervising principal to succeed Andrew J. English.

His career was interrupted in 1942 when he entered the Navy to serve for three years as a lieutenant in deck communications.

He has no immediate plans, he said last night.

ON THE ADVICE of Montgomery county Superintendent A. M. Kulp, the board last night named Thomas D. Evans, present high school principal, to succeed Hartman. Evans accepted the appointment.

Evans took over Hartman's duties during the latter's wartime service.

Official rgret—of a sort—over the resignation came from Krasley.

"This situation brings with it a certain measure of personal regrets. The board is grateful for what Mr. Hartman has done. He has been with the district for over 20 years now and I hope he finds a lot of happiness in his new field. You have our very best wishes for that," he said.

The board also granted the retiring supervisor severance pay until the end of November.

IN ADDITION TO filling Evans' spot, the board also learned that Cornelius Eliff, guidance teacher, who started teaching the beginning of this term, has been notified to report for a U.S. Air Force physical examination on Thursday.

During the meeting last night, the 'Ford school board also read a request from the teachers' association that the method of wage payment be changed to a semi-monthly basis, instead of monthly. The board, after discussion, agreed on motion to the twice a month payment plan, beginning with the month of November.

The board, on motion, granted permission to the high school band to participate in Spring City Kiddies' Hallowe'en celebration Monday night Oct. 23, under proper supervision.

ECKENRODE GETS —

Irish's tavern, South Pottstown, at 11 p. m., Aug. 30, when police alleged he was beating up the former barber on York street near High.

Stanley Horosley, an attendant at the Merritt service station, Pottstown, and Robert Kochel, who lives next to the tavern, testified that they saw Eckenrode in the drinking establishment at that time. Several other witnesses were produced by Attorney W. H. Rosenberry Jr., who backed up the statements.

Eckenrode was arrested by Pottstown police several hours after Tyce's body was found lying in the street. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Pottstown hospital.

COMMONWEALTH witnesses included John S. Mace, 20, of 118 King street, who had been sitting on a High street store window sill with Tyce when Eckenrode approached them.

Mace testified yesterday that, after being insulted by Eckenrode, he went in search of a policeman. Meanwhile, he asserted, he saw Eckenrode following Tyce around the corner of York and High streets, where Tyce's body was later discovered by John Fadler, Pottstown RD 3, and Miss Anne Focht, 305 North York street, motorists.

Dr. J. Ross Schmidt, who performed an autopsy on Tyce, testified that death was not actually caused by direct blows, but could have been brought on by extreme excitement. The autopsy showed that he died from a hemorrhage.

Other Commonwealth witnesses included Patrolmen Joseph Thees and Paul Bridegam, and Chief of Police James A. Laughead, of Pottstown.

Eckenrode testified that he had not been near the vicinity of the scene on the night of Aug. 30, having spent most of his time in the taproom, where witnesses claimed they observed him for several hours.

ALARM BOXES —

to a wire running along South street.

Boxes eastward of that point are connected to a wire which runs from borough hall down King street, crosses High at Adams and proceeds down Queen street. The South street wire cannot be continued eastward, Price explained, because of the interruption in the street by the Doehler-Jarvis Die Casting corporation plant.

Held up by rain, Price and two part-time assistants have worked on the project since August. Among sideline duties, they had to rig 60-odd wire supports to poles along King street.

The sole borough facility requiring repair now, the electrician said, is the red police signal light on the southeast corner of High and Hanover streets. He will work on it today.

PRICE WAS ADVISED yesterday by Borough Fire Chief Richard E. Lindauer that the borough hall fire horn had missed one whole signal in an alarm Wednesday night.

The electrician said he checked briefly yesterday and found that the tape, recording such signals, at the Empire Hook and Ladder company, showed a perfect two signals He will check more fully today, he said.

The signal, 2122, for Wilson street and Highland road, called firemen to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Smale Jr., Wilson street and Winding road, where a mattress was afire.

Czech President Fears 'Ambush From Abroad'

PRAGUE, Oct. 5 (AP)—President Klement Gottwald, in an order for tomorrow's day of the Czechoslovak army, said tonight this Communist-led country must guard against "an ambush from abroad."

HOLLOWAY DEATH —

ping trips to set in food for the week ahead.

He was a familiar figure along High street, with his felt hat on the back of his head, brim turned up, his cane and his big market basket. He found the best produce and fruit by wandering from stand to stand in the farmers' markets and eyeing the food on display.

Many of his friends, saddened by his death, recalled last night that Mr. Holloway was popular as an entertainer at informal get-togethers.

His store of anecdotes was tremendous, and the mock seriousness with which he told them rallied many listeners in the several clubs and fraternal groups to which he belonged.

Even the staid school board was not immune to his sharp sense of humor, and many times he was overheard whispering in to one of his colleagues at the beginning of board sessions, "Say, I heard a story today about a fellow . . ."

MANY OF MR. Holloway's friends were from among the veterans' fraternity. He was a social member of the George A. Amole Post 47, American Legion, for about 20 years.

Although he did not have any military service of his own, he was interested in the borough's veterans' groups.

He commented many times on his lameness having kept him from military service. His favorite expression in this regard was:

"If they'd have given me a horse, I could have gone."

Mr. Holloway was a member of Pottstown Lodge 814, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, of which he was a past exalted ruler; Aerie 626, Fraternal Order of Eagles; Nest 1393, Order of Owls; Nest 150, Fraternal Order of Orioles; the Empire Hook and Ladder company, and the Patriotic Order, Sons of America.

Yesterday morning, pupils of the Pottstown Senior High school observed a minute of silence in his memory during assembly exercises in the auditorium.

153 Escape Death In Railroad Wreck

ERIE, Oct. 5 (AP)—A speeding New York Central streamliner wrecked in a terrific explosion and fire early today but its 153 dozing passengers miraculously escaped death.

More than 40 persons were injured, none seriously.

The New England states express, cruising through this lake city at more than a mile a minute, sliced into an oil tank car that popped out of a passing freight train.

There was no immediate explanation for the freight derailment which caused the Boston to Chicago express to crash at 1:15 a. m. Pottstown time.

The tanker erupted in a blast that shook Downtown Erie.

Huge flames licked around the express' stainless steel coaches as 11 of them zig-zagged to a grinding halt crosswise on the tracks.

A DISASTER CALL went out.

Within minutes some 20 doctors, 50 firemen and a like number of policemen were at the scene.

Together with hundreds of passersby and railroad employes the rescue crews worked feverishly to free passengers from flame-seared cars under the ominous threat of spreading fire or new explosions.

The fast-working rescuers slithered in pools of thick oil from the smashed tanker and the battered Diesel of the passenger.

Another tank car wrecked in the freight was loaded with powdered chemical which fire chief Lawrence Scully was unable to identify.

Scully's men battled the scattered blazes and prowled in the wreckage to prevent spread of the fires. Said the fire chief:

"It was one of the most unusual fires in my experience. And it was a God's blessing that those people escaped.

Symington Attacks Hershey Policy on Draft of Scientists

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—W. Stuart Symington, head man in the national mobilization effort, disagreed today with some of the tough draft ideas advanced by Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service chief.

The split showed up most clearly over armed service for scientifically trained men, but there were other points to be cleared up on how the available manpower shall be divided among the fighting forces and other defense claimants.

Symington as mobilization coordinator arranged a luncheon session tomorrow with Secretary of Defense Marshall, to try for "an overall, agreed policy." Sitting in will be Secretary of Labor Tobin to whom President Truman has assigned top manpower responsibilities.

Symington, chairman of the National Securities Resources board, took his stand in an address to the United States Conference of Mayors, meeting in special session here, and told the city executives of the plan for tomorrow's get-together.

HE DID NOT mention Hershey by name but told the mayors he feels that "our scientists should be given exemption" from military service. He said further that cities should be protected against too heavy loss of police and firemen in view of the possibility of atomic attack and consequent public emergency.

"I have read recently that some other people don't feel the same way I do about it," Symington said. "I don't see anything to do but to sit down with a great leader like Secretary Marshall and try to solve the problem."

Hershey's views on who should be subject to the draft were set forth Tuesday night in a speech. He declared that Americans have been sold "a lot of baloney" about the need of blanket deferment for scientists and professional men because there are not enough of them.

"We've never had enough scientific people," the general said, "but there never are enough men over there fighting either."

Strong Earthquake Rocks Costa Rica

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, Oct. 5 (AP)—A strong earthquake which some residents said caused a mountain chain to "move like a snake" shook this Central American country today. The shock was felt at 10:10 a. m. but no widespread reports of damage or deaths had been received by nightfall.

Some injuries occurred in San Jose when persons were caught in panic-stricken crowds or struck by falling bricks. One attorney leaped from the window of his second-floor office and broke an arm.

Residents at Tres Rios, eight miles east of San Jose, said they saw a chain of nearby mountains "move like a snake." The shock sent church bells ringing.

Apes' Moving Day Worries Zoo Chiefs

NEW YORK, Oct. 5 (AP) — It's moving day tomorrow for the Bronx zoo's two big gorillas and everybody's nervous about it.

It's the biggest job the zoo's undertaken since 1908 when an elephant and a hippopotamus were shifted to a new house. Now the gorillas also are getting a new home, called "The Great Apes House."

The gorillas are just a big bundle of nerves—a 736-pound bundle when you weigh them together. Curator Lee S. Crandall explained the big apes don't like to be evicted.

"The greatest hazard," he said, "is that the two gorillas will be so disturbed by new surroundings that they will refuse to eat and become morose and dispirited."

The gorillas will be crated, then derricks will set the crates before the cage door of the new building.

21 Lost as U. S. Ship Hits Mine Off Korea

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—The 136-foot American mine sweeper Magpie was officially listed today as sunk by a floating mine off North Korea with 21 men missing.

The Navy said 12 survivors were picked up by a sister ship and taken to Pusan, South Korea.

U. N. Group Okays Plan by U. S. to Air Formosan Question

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 5 (AP)—Overriding objections from Nationalist China and the Soviet Union, the U. N. assembly's steering committee today recommended a full airing of the question of Formosa, the last bastion of Chiang Kai-shek's government.

The 14-member committee voted 10 to 3 for an American proposal to give the issue right of way in the assembly. In addition to Russia and China, Communist Czechoslovakia also voted against the proposal. The committee chairman, Nasrollah Entezam of Iran, did not vote.

The full assembly is expected to approve tomorrow or Saturday the committee's decision.

The steering committee also voted for an assembly hearing of fresh Soviet charges of American aggression against China. The vote was 11 to 1. China was opposed; Iran and Cuba abstained.

The Russians already have complaints against American bombing of Chinese territory before the Security council and the assembly. To get the new charge before the assembly, the Russians took over as their own a complaint from Communist China that American planes had again violated Chinese territory and an American warship had fired on and searched a Chinese merchant ship.

WARREN R. AUSTIN, United States delegate, called for a full debate on the charges so world public opinion can judge the facts.

Nationalist China and the Soviet Union are bitter opponents in the U.N. and their strange combination against the Formosa issue came from differing motives and not on purpose.

T. F. Tsiang, Nationalist China, said the assembly had no right to discuss the question. He maintains Formosa is Chinese territory.

Jacob A. Malik, Soviet deputy foreign minister, called the American proposal an "insult" to the great Chinese people. He said President Truman had attempted a "grab" by ordering the Seventh fleet to cover Formosa during the Korean conflict.

Marines Mopping Up in Korea

Followed by an American tank, a Marine infantryman boldly walks down a highway in Korea past a still-burning North Korean Red tank. The crew members of the burning vehicle were killed as they attempted to escape a flaming death. Note the body on the tank.

Reds End Austrian Strike

VIENNA, Friday, Oct. 6 (AP)—Communists called off their general strike in the Soviet sector of Vienna and in the Soviet zone and early today Red rioters loosed their stranglehold on the Austrian railways.

The Russian-controlled radio said the Communists decided to end the strike last night "because of Western pressure."

Yesterday Communist bands virtually isolated Vienna by rail and engaged in a mounting campaign of violence. The Reds were apparently enraged because their strike had failed to spread and result in a paralyzing tie-up that would threaten the present anti-Communist Austrian government.

A telephone check early today disclosed that all rail lines were thrown open shortly after the Communists decided to end the strike.

The release of the railway lines was the first solid indication that the Communists were apparently ending the riots and demonstrations.

The violence was restricted to the Soviet sector of the city and the Soviet zone for the entire country. It was carried on with the consent and encouragement of the Russians, whose lone concession appeared to be orders to the Communists to let military trains pass unhindered.

By TOM LAMBERT

WITH U. S. FORCES IN SOUTH KOREA, Oct. 5 (AP)—Three months ago today, on a rain-drenched hill south of Osan, an American soldier squeezed a careful shot from his rifle at a North Korean tank.

The rifle against the tank was symbolic of those early days of this war: But, its course has changed completely in 90 days.

Out of retreat has come victorious attack . . . out of desperation, toughening confidence . . . out of weakness, power.

The turn toward victory has not been cheap. In the 90 days since that dismal rainy afternoon near Osan, the U. S. has sustained more than 20,000 casualties, and there will be more before the final victory shot is fired.

TO ANYONE who has been in Korea during most of the past 90 days, certain impressions emerge:

The remarkable speed with which the U. S. turned the course of the war, the speed with which, figuratively, the muscle grew on the arm which was so scrawny three months ago.

The power, thrust and mobility of the North Korean army when it was at its peak, despite the fact it was under constant United Nations air assault.

A feeling of quick victory, born the day Seoul fell, after the Eighth army and Tenth corps forces had linked up to form the Seoul-Pusan line.

U. S. War Casualties Revealed as 20,756

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP) — An incomplete total of 20,756 American casualties in the Korean fighting was announced by the Defense department today. The cumulative total represented only the losses where the next of kin had been notified up to midnight Sept. 29.

The total was 3536 larger than that announced one week before, as of Sept. 22.

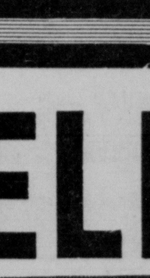
Lewis Barks Back To Canine Crack

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—John L. Lewis growled today that if he were dog catcher he would throw a net over the "pusillanimous pups" in the State department.

That was his reply to President Truman, who was quoted yesterday as saying "I wouldn't appoint John L. Lewis dog-catcher."

The coal mine chieftain wrote off the whole idea as impractical.

"The President," he said, "could ill afford to have more brains in the Dog department than in the Department of State . . ."



John L. Lewis

If he were dog-catcher, Lewis observed—

"Naturally the first duty would be to collect and impound the sad dogs, the intellectual poodle dogs and the pusillanimous pups which now infest the State department."

Lewis' acid comments were occasioned by a letter written by Mr. Truman more than a year ago to an old friend, Colorado State Senator Neal Bishop. The letter, made public in Denver yesterday, disclosed that the President didn't consider Lewis suitable timber for a pooch pincher.

BISHOP HAD WRITTEN Mr. Truman with a joking suggestion that Lewis be appointed ambassador to Russia. He said Lewis would make a good envoy because he commands "a more formidable appearance than Stalin, roars 'no' louder than Gromyko, hurls more choice invectives and quotations from the classics in his oratory than Vishinsky, outnegotiates Molotov at the conference table—as any mine operator will testify—and Lewis would be in Moscow."

The mine leader warmed up with an allusion to another prize letter from the President—the letter in which Mr. Truman described the U. S. Marines as the "Navy's Police Force."

Brooklyn Mob Sent Into Panic By Sewer Blasts

NEW YORK, Oct. 5 (AP)—Four sewer explosions in the Greenpoint section of Brooklyn today led to a panic among thousands of persons. Women screamed an atomic bomb had fallen.

Three persons were knocked down and injured as terrified women dragged their children to hallways and basements for safety.

Police said the women shouted "atom bomb," "the Russians dropped a bomb," and "we'll be burned up."

Emergency calls brought 20 police squad cars, three police emergency squads, fire department apparatus and emergency squads from nearly every city department. Police finally quieted the terror-stricken women.

THE EXPLOSION blew four heavy manhole covers as high as five stories from the street, and blue flame belched from the open manholes in the seven-block area. Three hundred windows in stores and apartment houses were blown out.

Emergency crews had to wait for the flames and fumes from the sewers to subside before they descended to determine that it was safe to flush the sewers, which empty into the East river.

Residents told police they had complained of unusual odors coming from the sewers. Police expressed the belief that some persons had used the sewer to dispose of gasoline, naphtha or kerosene.

Testimonial Dinner Honors Supervisors At Bally Playground

The Summer supervisors of the Bally playground were honored at a testimonial dinner, attended by more than 50 persons conducted at the Bally hotel.

James Carabasz, club president, was in charge of the affair, which also was observed as Ladies' Night. The program was in charge of Russell Siebert and Chester Yergey.

THE BALLY Playground Pickettes Hillbillies provided the evening's entertainment and presented vocal arrangements to the accompaniment of an accordion and guitar. The group consisted of Margot Abrams, Janice Quigley, Gertrude Miller, Shirley Yergey, Gloria Fleming and Eleanor Fritz.

A report to the club on the playground activities showed that the Summer program operated for 39 days with a total attendance of 3688 children, for an average of 95 children per day.

The total cost of the Summer's activities amounted to $1096 which represents a cost of approximately 25 cents per child.

Chester Yergey reported that the circus presented by the children of the playground, netted $131 which was turned over to the Bally Playground association. He added that the success of the circus showed that the children were appreciative of the fine program provided by the supervisors, and the citizens of Bally.

Luther League to Install New Officers on Sunday

A special candlelight installation service will be held on Sunday night at 7 o'clock in St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church in charge of the pastor, the Rev. David F. Longacre.

The service, which will be especially for the youth of the church, will feature the installation of the new officers of two groups of the church's Luther league.

Those to be installed as the new leaders of the intermediate group of the league include: President, Charles Haddad; vice president, Rodney Bender; secretary, Barbara Fisher; treasurer, Sandra Toms, and pianist, Patsy Jafolla.

The new officers of the senior group to be installed are: President, Daniel H. Unger; vice president, George Haddad; secretary, June Rose; treasurer, Eleanore Eisenhart, and pianist, Ruth Ann Erb.

Program to Feature Prevention of Fire

An assembly program in connection with Fire Prevention Week will be held in the local high school auditorium this afternoon at 12:40 o'clock under the supervision of Miss Winifred Y. Moyer, science teacher.

David Bause, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel E. Bause, will announce the program. He has been in charge of the arrangements.

A march, "El Captain," by the high school band, will precede the program and an exit march, "The Booster," will conclude the festivities.

The audience will sing "America, the Beautiful" and "Pennsylvania," to be followed by two piano duets by Catherine Ginther and Carl Berky. They will play "Dizzy Fingers" and "March from the Love of Three Oranges." Glen Bohn will play two cornet solos, "Emily Polka" and "Andante," accompanied by Carl Berky at the piano.

A PLAY EMPHASIZING the importance of being careful in the prevention of fires while camping will be presented.

The play, "The Forest Beautiful," will be characterized by Marlene Dotterer as Mrs. Madison; Sherril Sell as Mrs. Thompson; Samuel Schoenly as Jacob Nelson; Barbara Ann Rhoads as Virginia; Kathryn Grim as Shirley; Howard Body as Allan; Dennis Kolb as Leonard, and Randolph Stauffer as Sydney.

The general public is invited to attend.

Program Is Arranged For Adult Bible Class

The worship program of the Young Adult Bible class of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Evangelical and Reformed Sunday school on Sunday morning at 9 o'clock will include the following:

A devotional reading in charge of Marie Renninger, followed by a prayer by Purnell Renninger.

A reading by Purnell Renninger Jr. will follow a hymn by the entire school. The lesson will be taught by the class teacher, Robert Fleming.

The pohutukawa tree of New Zealand may be gnarled and twisted, says the National Geographic Society, but it blazes every year with red blossoms.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

A WEALTHY grain merchant bought a new car and was enjoying his first ride in it no end until a motorcycle cop stopped him and suggested a visit to the local magistrate. "He was doing sixty," reported the cop. "Nonsense," declared the merchant. "I never got her up above forty." The merchant's wife put in her two cents' worth at this point. "He wasn't going faster than twenty-five," she said. A friend who had been riding in the back seat added, "I'd say we were virtually at a stand-still when this officer came along." The magistrate threw up his hands and cried, "Stop right now — before you folks back into something."

A particularly ornery hoss thief was brought to trial in the cattle country the day after the state put its brand new electric chair into operation. The judge, bursting with civic pride, explained to the prisoner, "This is an enlightened community and before you get the fair and square trial you are entitled to by law, I'm going to ask you one question: Do you want AC or DC current?"

COUNTING NOSES

In Portland, Oregon, a municipal judge listened to the complaint of an attractive but very angry census taker during the recent national nose-counting, then meted out a $50 fine with this admonition:

"Young man, when the census taker knocks, you just answer the questions—you don't have to kiss her!"—T. J. McInerney, in Coronet.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Roundtripper Enables Reynolds To Shade Roberts in Hill Duel

Manager Eddie Sawyer's boys were not quite so helpless at the plate today. They landed on Reynolds for seven hits, including three doubles and a triple. They threatened frequently all through the chill afternoon, and two sparkling double plays were required to pull Reynolds safely through the eighth and ninth innings.

Yet, at the crucial points when a hit would have put them back in the Series, they were a study in futility. Dick Sisler came to bat five times with men on base, struck out twice and failed to get the ball beyond the infield. In fact, he has ended both the games here by striking out. Del Ennis, the Phils' clean-up slugger, went for the second day without a safety. That, in the end, was the story.

THE YANKEES scored first today. With two away in the second inning, Roberts walked Gerry Coleman, Yank second-baseman, on a 3-2 count, and Reynolds, always a dangerous hitting pitcher, slapped a single down the right line on which Coleman raced all the way to third. Gene Woodling sent him across with a roller deep to shortstop on which Granny Hamner had no real chance to make a play.

The Phils made their first score of the series and tied it up in the fifth. Mike Goliat, their second-baseman, rapped one past first base on which Coleman made a great running stop but threw wildly to first in his haste.

Roberts, trying to sacrifice Goliat, popped out to Reynolds. Eddie Waitkus then hit what looked like a simple out toward Coleman but just before the ball reached the Yank infielder it struck a pebble and bounded cleanly over his head. Goliat sped to third as the ball rolled into the outfield and scored a moment later when Richie Ashburn lofted deep to Woodling in left.

THE SOMEWHAT tainted tally—only one scored by the Phils in the first 13 innings of the classic—broke a string of 17 scoreless frames pitched by Reynolds in last year's Series and today. He allowed the Phils only two hits in the final five innings, one of them a bunt which Ashburn beat out to open the eighth and the other a one-out double by Hamner in the ninth.

The Yankees pecked away fairly steadily at Roberts after scoring in the second, but the young righthander bore down with men on the sacks and looked as though he might duel Reynolds right down to nightfall until he ran afoul of Di Maggio.

Bobby Brown and Hank Bauer slugged successive singles with one away in the eighth, but the Phillies ace forced Coleman to ground out and fanned Reynolds to end the threat.

Coleman's bouncer, on which Hamner pegged him out from short, was, incidentally, the first assist credited to a Phil in the game. The kids made three more in the last two innings, winding up with only one more than the World Series record of three.

DiMaggio and Roberts were in wide disagreement over the pitch that Joe hit. The Yankee said he thought it was a low slider, and, in fact, a bad pitch. Roberts insisted it was a fast ball, and the chances are that he knew what he had tossed.

"I was behind DiMaggio," he explained, "so I had to challenge him with my fast one."

BUT WHATEVER it was that Giuseppe hit, there was never any doubt where it was going. There was a quick, hurt yelp from the crowd at the crack of the bat, and then almost silence as the white pellet flew in a low arc toward the left-center stands. A spectator pocketed the souvenir, Joe trotted slowly around and everyone knew the second game was over.

With Lopat a certainty to go for the Yanks at the stadium tomorrow, Eddie Sawyer was undecided between Bob Miller, his strong young bonus rookie righthander, and Ken Heintzelman, a gray-thatched lefthander.

Miller posted an 11-6 record for the season and was considered one of the most brilliant young pitchers in the game until he developed a sore shoulder last month. He won eight in a row before losing a game in the majors. Heintzelman won only three this season while dropping nine.

Just Happy Kids

Haughty Yankees Let Down Hair

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5 (AP)—Even the impassive, haughty New York Yankees got excited today.

Joe DiMaggio actually broke into a smile when he was asked after the game if this was the most important home run he ever hit in a World Series.

"It sure was," he said. "How could it be more important?"

There was no answer to that one.

"I thought it was a low, inside slider, the ball I hit," he said. "Course he (Robin Roberts) will probably say it was something else. They always do. But it looked like a low inside slider to me. I went down with it.

"Roberts is everything they say he is. I haven't hit a ball on the ground in this series yet—all up in the air—and one into the bleachers. The big one."

"Yes sir, I'm glad that one's over," said pitcher Allie Reynolds, joining in the back-slapping.

Casey Stengel, Yankee manager who doesn't believe in smiling during a World Series, called the game a "dandy."

Tomorrow, Ed Lopat will pitch for the Yankees in the first game of the 1950 series in Yankee Stadium, and on Saturday it might be Whitey Ford, Stengel indicated.

"Gonna win it now in four straight?" someone asked Casey.

"No sir, I didn't say that. The Phils play good ball. They play hard. All their pitchers are great. When the other guys are pretty good I don't lie about it, I give 'em credit. There has been four great pitching performances—two on each side—in two days."

There was much more stirring around and shouting in the Yankee dressing room today than there was yesterday, just as there was much more yelling in the stands than in the opening game.

Yesterday, close as it was, 1-0, the Yankees acted afterwards as if they expected to win all the time and the result was a foregone conclusion. Today they acted like kids that unexpectedly found a dollar bill—surprised and happy.

"Getting Awful Monotonous Popping Up"--Joe DiMaggio

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5 (AP)—"Heck,' laughed Joe DiMaggio after he hit a mighty 10th inning home run that gave the New York Yankees a 2-1 victory over the Phillies today, "It was getting awful monotonous popping up all the time."

There never was any doubt about the blow once it left Joe's bat. It was a blazing liner that kept rising until it landed in the upper left field tier.

However, DiMaggio and righthander Robin Roberts, his victim, differed on what kind of a pitch he hit.

"It was a low inside slider, about knee high," said Joe. "It wasn't a good pitch. I don't know but what it might have been called a ball."

"It was a fast ball, belt high," said Roberts. "I had to challenge him with a fast one. I was behind two balls and one strike."

Whatever the pitch, the homer gave DiMaggio one of his biggest thrills.

"I'D SAY THIS gave me about as good a thrill as any," he said. "It's always a thrill to hit one out of the park. That Roberts is a good pitcher. He has to be good to win 20 games. I'd say his fast ball and slider were his best pitches. His curve wasn't too good. He had fine control, too."

Manager Casey Stengel, plainly elated over the result which gave the Yankees a 2-0 lead in the series, Patted Joe on his naked back and exclaimed:

"I knew you were going to hit one soon," he said. "They can't fool you too long."

DiMaggio said it was the first time he had ever broken up a World Series game with a homer. He has hit seven.

"I hit one against Rex Barney of Brooklyn back in 1947 early in a game and we finally won it, 4-3," he said. "But that one wasn't the run that broke a tie."

Line Forms for 3d World Series Game

NEW YORK, Oct. 5 (AP)—Two eager Yankee baseball fans today were first in line twice for tomorrow's World Series game at Yankee Stadium.

The two, Charles M. Kierst, 59, of Auburn, N. Y., and Maxwell Walkey, 39, of Winnipeg, Manitoba, arrived early today to take up their vigils at the bleacher entrance.

However, police asked them to leave because of the long wait ahead and promised they would get their places back if they returned at 5 p. m.

At 4:20 p. m. they were right back on the job.

Phils Mentally Maul Selves Over Collapse in Clutches

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5 (AP)—You can't win swinging like hitless wonders in the clutch is the way skipper Eddie Sawyer summed up the World Series failure of his Philadelphia Phillies.

Stripped down to a sleeveless red sweat shirt, Sawyer sat in his tiny clubhouse office and tried to figure out what's wrong with his National League champions at the bat. They have scored but 10 runs in their last 56 innings of baseball, including one in the pair of series games lost to the New York Yankees.

"We got our only run today thanks to a bad bounce over Gerry Coleman's head at second base. It looks like we need four bases on balls to score.

"Well, there is one solace, we can't be any worse in the Yankee Stadium. Maybe our kids will snap out of it. One thing I'm sure of, they won't let any stadium scare them. We'll play our usual game and score some runs, I hope."

THE WHIZ KIDS weren't blaming anybody but themselves for today's 2 to 1 loss in 10 innings. Field captain Granny Hamner, the pepperpot shortstop who was so dejected after the opening game 1 to 0 defeat, was plain disgusted today. Whereas yesterday he wasn't doing any talking, he had a few choice remarks this time.

"We helped Vic Raschi out in the first game by swinging at a lot of bad balls. We did the same thing again today but not as much. At least we had lots of opportunities to drive home some runs today but somehow we have become allergic to that home plate."

Hamner had a triple, double and walk and played his usually fine game.

Series Slants

By JOE MUCH

SOMETIMES you get the impression that three separate and distinct factions are involved in this World Series business, the Phils, the Yanks, and the incomparable Clipper, Joe DiMaggio. And you know that when all precincts are in, it will be DiMag in a landslide.

The fellow wears Yankee grays as if they were tailored for him on Fifth avenue. He patrols his centerfield post with the cool confidence of a Napoleon, daring foe hitters to penetrate his bailiwick.

At the plate, DiMaggio is majesty itself. His mere appearance wrings cold sweat from Phillie fans, and when he is retired—as he was four straight times on pop flies yesterday — the collective sighs of the audience would extinguish a South Amboy bonfire.

Joe swings mightily, lofts a popper and one bleacherite tells another, "DiMaggio is done."

But he'll never be whispered out of the league as long as his bludgeon is his negotiating attorney.

YESTERDAY, WHEN it was apparent that Robin Roberts, toiling Phil chucker, had deactivated the Clipper, Joe poked a game-winning home run into Shibe Park's far leftfield chairs.

It was an authoritative whack, whistling as it went and deflating a crowd that had hoped against hope that their favorite youngsters would take this one.

TODAY, THE BASEBALL that the Jolter sent sailing on a mission of mayhem is in Pottstown, the property of a proud young Marine corps veteran.

Johnny Hakun, 27, who lives at Pottstown RD 1, played a hunch and cast his lot with the milling pre-game crowd outside Shibe Park yesterday morning at 9 o'clock. At 10 o'clock, he had lease on what proved to be one of the choicer seats in the house.

Johnny is a Yankee fan. "The only one in my section of the stands," he said.

For nine innings, Hakun kept his sentiments to himself for reasons of personal preservation. In the tenth, he threw caution to the winds, stood up and shouted, "Come on, Joe, sock one."

Brief seconds later Hakun was looking headon into the white blur of a speeding baseball. The pellet smacked against the eager fingers of a fan, bounced off and into the lap of another onlooker, but he, too, was unable to field it cleanly.

What is he going to do with his prize?

"I'll keep it as long as it has a cover. I'm going to lock it up in a closet and someday try to get DiMaggio to autograph it."

IT WAS ANOTHER vehicle to pitching brilliance yesterday, but Reynolds and Roberts worked harder for their laurels. Both plowed in and out of jams and neither had occasion to breathe from the belly at any time in the ball game.

There was a time in the late innings that fireman Jim Konstanty began to loosen his arm in the Phils dugout, but that wasn't the help that Roberts needed.

KEN SILVESTRI, Phils bullpen receiver and an erstwhile Yankee, squanders no affection of his former teamies. Pressed into catching service when Andy Seminick was lifted for a pinch hitter, Silvestri was behind the dish when Reynolds took a called third strike in the eighth round. Reynolds looked around to ask for the ball, but the Phil catcher refused and tossed it to the mound.

THE PHILS WENT 7 1/3 innings without an assist before Coleman rapped to shortstop Hamner in the eighth inning.

First baseman Waitkus had no putouts until the sixth when he pocketed Bauer's popper.

AFTER WAITKUS' bounder to second bad-hopped over Coleman's head in the Phil fifth, a 14-man ground crew swarmed onto the field to give the infield a fast facial.

LEFTFIELD STANDS fans were enjoying a balmy shirtsleeve ball game, while less than 400 feet away, grandstanders were huddled in topcoats and quaffing hot chocolate. The sun made the difference.

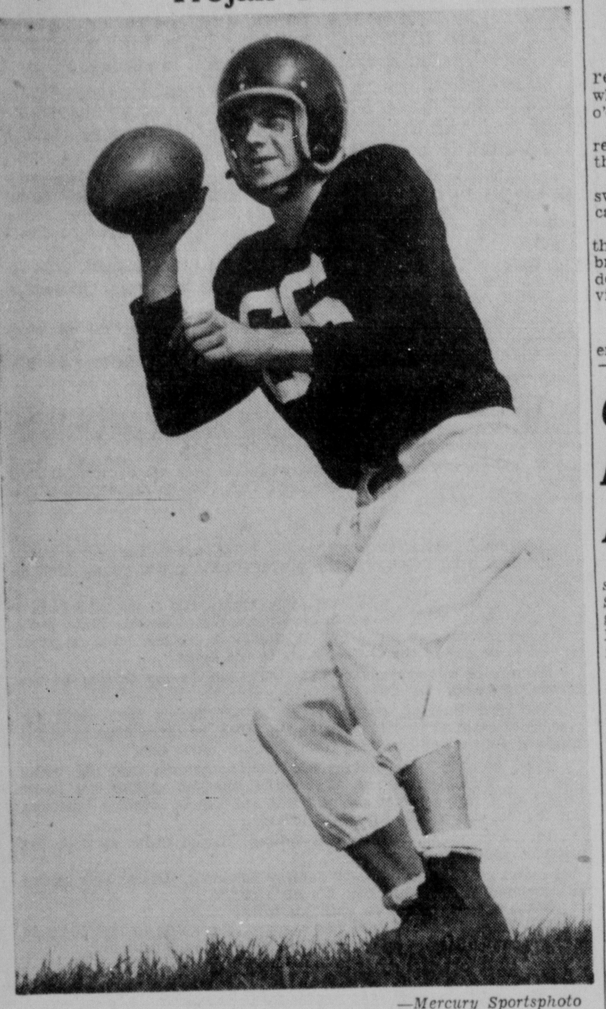
Trojans Take on Norristown

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Trojan Tosser



—Mercury Sportsphoto

Quarterback Stan Chaplin, Pottstown High's drill master, probably will be pitching aplenty tonight when the Trojans face Norristown high on Roosevelt field in Norristown. Unbeaten in three starts, the host boast a fine charging line that has yielded very little running yardage.

LOCALS SEEK 3RD STRAIGHT WIN OVER UNBEATEN EAGLES

A running county grid debate, in which Pottstown just recently has begun to offer rebuttal, will be renewed tonight when the Trojans tangle with Norristown's scratchless Eagles in an 8 o'clock go under the lights of Norristown's Roosevelt field.

On paper, this yearly duel looms as a dilly. Neither team has had its record marred as Norristown has run up three successive victories while the Trojans were digesting a pair of wins.

But the balance of power, all Pottstown over the past two years, swings sharply to Eagleland tonight and Coach John Sweeney's hosts will carry the heavy end of the odds tonight.

The down-county Eagles nicked strong Olney, 7-6, as an appetizer, then gobbled Radnor, 20-7, and Overbrook, 25-6. They gathered touchdowns as they rolled, widening the victory margin at each belt.

MEANWHILE, THE Trojans, operating behind a diversified, if uncertain attack, trimmed Upper Merion, 13-0 and mussed Ben Franklin on Jim Petrucelli's good right shoe, 13-12, in Franklin field frays.

But it will be an injury-weakened Trojan unit that takes the turf tonight. Stellar wingman Tom Pollick, one of few veterans in the local cast, will sit this one out with a bruised cheekbone.

Reserve back and ace pass defender Walt Nixon is ailing and Dick Weiser, a pre-season casualty, is not yet ready to take up his battle station in the center of the Trojan wall.

In place of Pollick, Coach Heeb Meyers has put the finger on two comparatively unseasoned youngsters. Soph Mike Kriczky, who has been a defensive safety, will get the offensive wing assignment. Senior guard George Clayton is the likely defensive fill in.

ANOTHER CHANGE shifts Bob Schlichter, another Sophomore, into offensive right halfback chores and sends workhorse Earl Decker to the stag line for between-exchanges rest. Decker had been playing offensive half, defensive wing.

Otherwise, it will be the same lineup that faced Upper Merion in the opener. Jim Long, Senior center, will get fulltime duty now that Dick Hiddeman, his alternate, is nursing a banged in chest wall.

With Schlichter in the running group will be Stan Chaplin, Alx Czarick and Sam Green. Green is the wrecker when the wrecking is good, while Chaplin pitches and probably will throw extensively tonight.

NORRISTOWN BOASTS a double-barreled menace in belting fullback Charlie Blockson and whip-armed Jim Randolph, a quarterback with bombing inclinations. In the line, the big boy, literally and figuratively, is Don Shank, a bruising tackle.

Last year, a Pottstown team that was just begining to bloom as a brilliant unit, toyed with the Eagles, 19-6, as Sam Green crumbled the foe line nad pitched two TD aerials beyond the secondary outposts.

The win marked the first time in history Pottstown had won two straight over a Norristown club. In 1948, it was Pottstown, 25-12.

Greenie Girls Defeat Norco In Perk Test

East Greenville High registered its second victory in three Perkiomen-Schuylkill Valley girls hockey league games yesterday when it rushed by North Coventry, 3-0, on the Norco field.

Greenie center forward Heimbach scored twice to spearhead the EG victory, while Miss Freed notched the other tally. East Greenville scored twice in the final period after leading, 1-0, at intermission.

In jayvee contests, the Greenie yearlnigs trimmed Norco's underlings, 2-1, on goals by Misses Fillman and Numan; and Boyertown tugged to a 1-0 win over Royersford.

Cubs Bow to Coatesville, 12-6, Waste Late Chance

Pottstown Junior High perked up long enough to break the scoring ice and push over a last quarter touchdown yesterday at Coatesville, but suffered its second straight setback, a 12-6 defeat at the hands of Coatesville Junior High.

After a scoreless first quarter, the Coates shoved over tallies in each of the middle periods to lead 12-0. The first TD was the product of three successive end sweeps that carried 60 yards into happy land. The second was set up by a 25-yard pass play and negotiated on another end sweep.

Then the Cubs revived and took up the enjoyable pastime of shoving their hosts all over the green. Early in the fourth period, Ray Donnelly bulled over from the four-yard line after the Cubs had marched some 80 yards.

Later in the period the Cubs managed to fumble twice within reaching range of the Coatesville double tape, and both times the embattled host made recoveries.

With the ball game, the Cubs lost the services of starting tackle Milt Wensel, who was admitted to the hospital last night for observation and treatment of a possible broken rib.

Carnera Heads Reading Card

READING, Oct. 5—Missing from the Reading wrestling picture since Feb. 5, 1949, when he pinned Wilbur Nead for his ninth straight mat conquest in this city, Primo Carnera will return to the Armory Saturday night in quest of his tenth triumph.

Providing the opposition for the six-feet-six-inch 265-pound Italian, who once held the world's heavyweight boxing title, will be George Macricostas, fiery Golden Greek from Chester, Pa.

Hill Tapers Off Before Va. Trip

Hill School gridders tapered off yesterday before a trip to Virginia where they will take on the strong Woodberry Forest preppers in a Saturday contest.

With the squad in tiptop shape, Coach Jack Riley's Blue-Grays were favorite to repeat a 1949 win over the Foresters. That victory was the springboard to an unbeaten season, a mark the current squad hopes to duplicate after getting off to a rousing start last week. Hill trimmed Williamson Trade, 49-6, in its first game.

More action for halfback Hays Baker, who ran 108 yards in four carries Saturday, was slated as was more general service for the entire second Blue team.

Eagles, Shillington Vie In 1st Ford Night Tiff

The first night game in Royersford's grid history will be played this evening when all-winning Royersford High meets once-beaten Shillington, under the lights at 8 p. m., at the Eagles' home haunt.

The 'Forders have all the markings of making their first night test one to be remembered, packing a well-planned and powerful ground attack that has cleated under a pair of Perk loop foes on successive Saturdays.

The Speedboys from Berks county are perennially one of the better teams in that area, but showed little in bowing to thrice-thumped Wilson, 19-7, Last Friday.

Little Clark Shaner, at 150-pounds, will open at left guard for the Birds, displacing Roy Krasley. The stocky Senior will probably see close to 60-minutes of football as he is expected to stay in there when Shillington gets the ball, due to the loss of defensive pillar Bill Boettger the past weekend, because of a broken leg.

Dick Beahm, Speedboy fullback and captain, scored all their points versus Wilson last week, and looms as the chief offensive threat out of the visitors' single wing offensive repertoire.

Hader Readies 13-Man Squad For EG Date

Schwenkville High Coach Mike Hader yesterday was getting his football team ready for a tussle with East Greenville High Saturday. He was getting it as ready as a 13-man squad can be.

When football began at Schwenkville this year, Hader had a 15-man turnout, but injuries and other mishaps claimed two men, and then there were 13. Today, only 12 of his players can be classed as able-bodied.

"We'll play as long as we can place 11 men on the field," Hader, who expelled a player from the squad for absenteeism yesterday, vowed. "But we cannot tolerate indifference, no matter how low our manpower gets."

Sisler Cuffed by Fate Second Straight Time

By WHITNEY MARTIN

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5 (AP)—Fate, so kind to Dick Sisler last Sunday, rapped him stoutly across the knuckles today for the second straight day, and the Philadelphia Phils again trooped dejectedly from the field, this time losers to the New York Yankees, 2 to 1.

It was the big, good-natured Phillie left fielder who put the Phils in the World Series with his dramatic home run in the game with the Dodgers Sunday.

Yesterday, with the team one run behind and two out in the ninth, he came to bat. He struck out.

Today, with his team one run behind in the 10th inning, two out and a man on second, he came up again. He took two tremendous swings and a timorous half swing, and it was all over. The Yankees rushed out to pound Allie Reynolds on the back as Dick, after a brief, futile beef at the third strike call, dropped his chin to his chest and stumbled forlornly to the bench, his Sunday glory suddenly a faded memory.

TODAY'S GAME included all the thrills and suspense which were missing from the rather forlorn and spiritless encounter of yesterday, perhaps because the crowd finally found something to cheer about.

It wasn't until 2:39 p. m., however, that the fans really were able to pull out all stops. Prior to that time there were brief periods of enthusiasm as a Phil would clout the ball lustily, but the base runners always died right there.

At 2:39, however, Mike Goliat crossed the plate for the Phils' first run in nearly 14 innings of play, and you would have thought the Liberty Bell had just rung again.

The run was slightly tainted, at that, but it made no difference. With Mike Goliat on first and one out, Eddie Waitkus tapped a ball toward second baseman Gerry Coleman. It would have been a cinch out at first, although no force out.

Suddenly the ball struck something, maybe the same pebble which sent a ball skyrocketing over Freddie Lindstrom's head in the 1924 World Series. At any rate, it shot high in the air over Coleman's head for a hit instead of an out, Goliat going to third and then scoring on a fly ball which would have been the third out.

It was only a reprieve for the Phils, though, although the Yankees were having their troubles with Robin Roberts who, when not adjusting his trousers and cap, wiping his face, shrugging his shoulders and generally acting like he was standing on an ant hill, pitched some pretty fine baseball.

The climax of today's baseball drama wasn't Joe DiMaggio's prodigious home run in the 10th inning. It came in the last of the ninth when Casey Stengel and Eddie Sawyer staged a battle of strategy.

Granny Hamner had doubled with one out, and as the Yankee bullpen suddenly became alive, Dick Whitman was sent in to bat for Ken Silvestri. Stengel, chin thrust forward and old legs creaking, loped to the mound. He ordered Whitman passed, to set up a double play. It did.

So the Yankees did it again. Yesterday it was just superb pitching. Today it was fine pitching by Allie Reynolds, and a little of the old Yankee power. Whatever they need at the moment, they have.

Star's Pride Victor in Ky. Futurity Race

LEXINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—Star's Pride unloosed the power in his strong brown legs in the stretch today to score a straight heat victory in the lush Kentucky Futurity at the Lexington trots.

The heavily backed son of Worthy Boy - Stardrift turned in respectable but not dazzling times of 2:03 and 2:02 for the mile laps in the Grand Circuit's last big test this season for three year old trotters.

Lusty Song, a near even-money choice, broke gait at the outset of the first heat and never was better than fourth in the first trip around the fast mile. The brown son of Volomite was a strong threat in the last heat until he broke gait coming down the stretch and wound up fourth.

Phil Foils Phil

Phil Rizzuto, Yankee shortstop, steps over sliding Richie Ashburn to grab a wide throw and get the force at second base on the Phils' centerfielder in the eighth inning of the second World Series game in Philadelphia. Ashburn was thrown out by pitcher Allie Reynolds who grabbed a bunt by Dick Sisler of the Phils. The umpire is Charley Berry. The Yanks won, 2-1. (AP Wirephoto)

Stengel's Twin-Platoon System Pays Off Again

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5 (AP)—Manager Casey Stengel's two platoon infield paid off again today as the Yankees turned back the Philadelphia Phillies, 2-1, in 10 innings.

In the eighth inning Stengel put Billy Johnson on third base and Johnny Hopp on first to strengthen his defensive unit.

Stengel got results almost immediately. With Dick Sisler on first base after his bunt to Allie Reynolds forced Richie Ashburn at second, Del Ennis hit a sizzling grounder to third. Johnson came up with the ball to start a double play and end a Phillie threat that began when Ashburn beat out a bunt.

Casey figures to play the rest of the Series this way with Bobby Brown starting at third base and slugger Johnny Mize opening at first in his attacking platoon infield.

In today's game, Hopp figured on the payoff end of two important double plays.

While pitching has been the big thing so far in the Series the fielding has been almost perfect.

Joe DiMaggio's home run won today's game in the 10th inning, but a great one-handed stop by Joe in center field in the ninth inning gave him and his teammates a chance to carry the game into overtime.

Had the ball gotten by DiMaggio, Hamner would have had a certain triple and possibly a homer.

YESTERDAY IT was Hopp who helped preserve Vic Raschi's shutout in the opening game. Johnny, ruled eligible only on Monday, to play in the Series, came up with a fine stop of a hot grounder by Ashburn in the ninth inning. It was a play that only an agile first baseman could make.

'35 Series, Warmed Over

Sixth Straight 1-Run Phil Loss

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5 (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies ran their World Series losing streak to six straight today—six straight one-run defeats. Of course, the streak covers more than a generation, 35 years.

For a while, in the ninth inning, the 32,660 fans at Shibe Park thought the Phillies would pull through. When, with two on, the count on Mike Goliat went to three and one, seismographs dances across the country as a mass roar arose. A moment later, when Goliat slapped into an inning-ending double play, the quiet was deeper than the silence of King Tut's tomb.

VICTORY WAS old stuff to the New York Yankees, but they still ran out to pat pitcher Allie Reynolds on the back. Then everybody, Yankees, Phillies, and spectators headed for exits so quickly you'd think someone had whispered "fire." The fans weren't yelling.

IT'S OFFICIAL, now, that this is no longer a man's world. Women were in the press box at Shibe Park for the first time. The gals were working, too. They were Western Union operators.

JOE DiMAGGIO has been no ball of fire at the plate in the last two World Series. He didn't get a hit until the final game of the 1949 series against Brooklyn. He didn't get one in this series until the tenth inning today. The Phils would prefer not to discuss the hit. When last seen, the ball was vanishing somewhere in the left-center field stands and for the second straight day, superb pitching by the Phillies was not enough for victory.

• • •

There was a Brooklyn fan in the house. After two games brought in only four runs, he chirped: "The Dodgers could beat 'em both." Nobody laughed.

• • •

In the eighth, ninth, and tenth innings, when Roberts was finding the Yankee batters troublesome, Jim Konstanty got up and tossed a few in the left field bull pen. This was in keeping with his prediction after an eight inning effort yesterday that he'd be back in "Konstanty's Korner" today. Probably Roberts wishes he had done with DiMaggio what Konstanty did yesterday . . . walk him.

• • •

Fans leaving the ball park forgot to look back. It may have been the last time they walked out of a World Series game at this park until next year. Bob Carpenter, the Phillies' head, is not likely to agree . . . but the undeniable truth is this: Guys who don't hit don't win ball games.

Americans Victors In Jewish Olympics

TEL AVIV, Oct. 5 (AP)—American athletes won three more titles today as the All-Jewish world Olympics went into its final 48 hours.

The winners were weight-lifter Frank Spellman of York, Pa.; breaststroke swimmer Aaron Kurtzman of Plainfield, N. J., and diver Morleey Shapiro, of San Francisco.

Penn Checks in For Cal Contest

BERKELEY, Calif., Oct. 5 (AP)—Pennsylvania's hard hitting football team checked in this evening, primed for Saturday's intersectional tilt with University of California's up-and-coming team.

The Penn club will work out tomorrow morning in the Berkeley stadium. California will limber up in the afternoon.

Coach Lynn Waldorf ran the Bears through a general drill today, "picking up loose ends" as he called it. He spent considerable time on blocking, a phase of the game at which the Bears have not been performing to "Pappy's" satisfaction this week.

OIL BIDS

North Coventry school district will receive bids for 20,000 gallons of No. 2 fuel oil. Address bids to George A. Copeland, secretary, RD 2, Pottstown. Bids must be in the hands of the secretary by noon October 11, 1950. GEORGE A. COPELAND, Secty.

STATEMENT OF THE OWNERSHIP, MANAGEMENT, CIRCULATION, ETC., REQUIRED BY THE ACT OF CONGRESS OF AUGUST 24, 1912, AS AMENDED BY THE ACTS OF MARCH 3, 1933, AND JULY 2, 1946, of The Pottstown Mercury published daily at Pottstown, Pennsylvania, for October 1, 1950.

State of Pennsylvania

County of Montgomery, ss.

Before me, a Notary Public in and for the State and county aforesaid, personally appeared William M. Hiester who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the publisher of The Pottstown Mercury and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management (and if a daily paper, the circulation), etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the Act of August 24, 1912, embodied in section 411, Postal Law and Regulations, printed on the reverse of this form, to wit:

1. That the names and addresses of the publisher, editor, managing editor and business managers are:

Publisher—William M. Hiester, Pottstown, Pa.

News Editor—Charles D. Treleven, Pottstown, Pa.

Managing Editor—Shandy Hill, Pottstown, Pa.

Business Manager — Shandy Hill, Pottstown, Pa.

2. That the owner is: (If owned by a corporation, its name and address must be stated and also immediately thereunder the names and address of stockholders owning or holding 1 percent or more of total amount of stock. If not owned by a corporation, the names and address of the individual owners must be given. If owned by a firm, company or other unincorporated concern, its name and address, as well as those of each individual member must be given).

William M. Hiester, Trustee, Bryn Mawr, Pa.

3. That the known bondholders, mortgagees, and other security holders owning or holding 1 percent or more of total amounts of bonds, mortgages, or other securities are:

(If there are none, so state.) None.

4. That the two paragraphs next above, giving the names of the owners, stockholders, and security holders if any, contain not only the list of stockholders and security holders as they appear upon the books of the company but also, in cases where the stockholder or security holder appears upon the books of the company as trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporation for whom such trustee is acting, is given; also that the said two paragraphs contain statements embracing affiant's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders and security holders who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees hold stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner; and this affiant has no reason to believe that any other person, association, or corporation has any interest direct or indirect in the said stock, bonds, or other securities than as so stated by him.

5. That the average number of copies of each issue of this publication sold or distributed, through the mails or otherwise, to paid subscribers during the 12 months preceding the date shown above is 18,216. (This information is required from daily, weekly, semiweekly, and triweekly newspapers only.)

WILLIAM M. HIESTER, Publisher.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 5th day of October, 1950.

SARA J. BEERBROWER, Notary Public.

My commission expires January 7, 1951.

CIO Steel Workers Announce Plans to Seek Wage Increase

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 5 (AP)—The CIO Steel Workers announced today they will seek "a very healthy and substantial" wage increase, the amount of which was not disclosed.

Philip Murray, CIO president and head of the Steel Workers, said he assumed the steel industry could grant such an increase "without increasing prices."

The Steel Workers now earn an average of $1.70 an hour and there was speculation that the new wage demands would bring them close to $2 an hour.

Murray and his assistants in the top echelon of the powerful union kept secret how much money the steel companies would be asked to add to their payrolls. The amount will be significant because the Steel Workers have been the pace-setters in wage increases since the end of the war.

THE UNION'S executive board and wage policy committee met for two days behind closed doors to map new contract demands.

Murray said current contracts provide for wage negotiations to begin Nov. 1, but many companies would sit down with union groups beginning next Monday. U. S. Steel and Bethlehem Steel, the key companies of the industry, have yet to reply to a union request for negotiations in advance of Nov. 1.

These are the areas set forth by the wage policy committee:

Wages—A demand for a general increase, elimination of geographical wage differentials, eliminations of wage differences between basic steel workers and those in iron ore and non-ferrous mining and manufacturing, severance pay, and graduated overtime for Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

Union shop—A demand for a union shop throughout the industry, depending on the outcome of National Labor Relations board elections now in the making.

Pensions and social insurance—Extension of present plans to employes not yet covered and improvement of plans in effect.

Vacations, annual wage, protection against changes in hourly incentive, piece work or tonnage rates where jobs change, no breaks in seniority for members employed temporarily by the union, improved grievance machinery, additional protection for members going into military service, and maintenance of all local benefits now in effect, but not covered by contracts.

The U. S. Bureau of Mines says 202 mining operations out of 646 entered in 1949 competition achieved perfect safety records.

Bethlehem Workers Attend Convention

Five officers and three delegates-at-large attended the Steel Workers' District 7 convention in Philadelphia the past Saturday. They were J. Alfred Marquet, president; James K. Dilliplaine, vice president; Benjamin Wade, recording secretary; Charles A. Hartman, financial secretary; Kenneth Worrall, treasurer, and John Binsfield, Jack Smith and Bard E. Rosenberry.

Gets New Job

Angus Ward (above), 57-year-old veteran of the State department's foreign service and an expert on the Far East, has been assigned to Nairobi, Kenya, British colony in Southeast Africa, as consul general. There were strong rumors that Ward was displeased with his new assignment as being a post out of his field of vast experience.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—Senator Maybank (D-SC) said today he favors a prompt loan to Marshal Tito's Communist, but anti-Soviet, government in Yugoslavia.

Ex-POWs Attempted To Obtain Leniency For Jap, Club Told

The efforts of a group of American survivors of Japanese prison camps to have the 25-year sentence of a Japanese colonel reduced were described by a former prisoner of war before the Pottstown Optimist club at its weekly meeting in the Clover Leaf restaurant last night.

The speaker, George W. Wills, of Philadelphia, told how the enemy colonel went out of his way to make life easier for the American prisoners.

He did everything possible for their comfort, short of what would have led to his own execution, the speaker said.

At subsequent war crimes trials, the Jap officer was sentenced to 15 years. The ex-prisoner organization, known as the Philippine Defenders, is intervening on behalf of the enemy colonel because of his humane treatment of them, Wills asserted.

THE SPEAKER also described the hardships of living 65 days on a Japanese ship with 1200 other captives enroute to prison camp. By the time the trip ended, he said, the ship had been bombed four times, and only 630 of the prisoners survived the ordeal.

Thirty-one members attended the session which was conducted by Vice President Elwood Angstadt in the absence of the president, Roland T. Brauch.

Funeral Rites Held For Accident Victim

Graveside services for John Kaye, 64-year-old North Coventry odd job worker killed the past week in an auto accident, were held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Arlington cemetery, near Drexel Hill.

The Rev. Edgar S. Brown Jr., pastor of Grace Lutheran church, officiated. Mr. Kaye was buried in his family plot.

Mr. Kaye, a native of Philadelphia who was virtually without a family at the time of his death, died after he was struck Thursday, Sept. 28, by an auto driven by Elmer Hiestand, 84, of Spring City RD, on Route 100 opposite North Coventry High school.

He was pronounced dead in Pottstown hospital shortly after the accident.

Montgomery County Coronor Winslow J. Rushong said last night no date has yet been set for an inquest into the death.

Key Law Enforcers Testify at Crime Probe

CHICAGO, Oct. 5 (AP)—Senate crime investigators heard from Chicago's three top law enforcers today in their quest for information on interstate crime.

It was the first Chicago session of the committee headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn). The meeting was behind closed doors, but Kefauver summed up the day's doing for reporters when the hearing recessed for the night.

Chicago Police Commissioner John C. Prendergast and Cook County Sheriff Elmer Michael Walsh told the committee more and better paid policemen would help to curb crime.
